Gamma Globulin Comes From Blood And The Bloodmobile Will Call Thursday!

With polio season at its height, the Red Cross appeals for a big turnout when the Bloodmobile comes to Orinda's Community Church Thursday.

Mrs. Warren Arnett, Orinda recruitment chairman, and her committee of 40 volunteers, are trying to contact every resident of Orinda to make an appointment to give blood during the Bloodmobile hours, 2 - 7 p.m.

BABY SITTERS will be available at the nursery school next to the church, and transportation will be furnished to all who request it.

A check of Orinda donor lists reveals that 22 persons have given blood four or more times in Orinda. Top donors are those of Mrs. Fred S. Crawshaw, 2 La Vuelta, and Charles William Brock of 51 La Cuesta, who have each donated six times.

Five donations each have been made by Miss Barbara Axton, 3 Mira Loma; Mr. Clarence Bets, 61 Moraga Highway; Mrs. Robert K. Christensen, 125 Overhill Road; and Mrs. Robert D. Harrison, 57 Camino Lenada.

TRUE TO THE old axiom that those who do the most are always willing to do more, all of these donors, when informed of their donor records and thanked by the Red Cross, wanted to know when the Bloodmobile would be around again. Several are gallon-club members through previous donations in Oakland or San Francisco.

Fifteen persons have given four pints of blood apiece on former Orinda drawings. They are: Donald Anderson, Jean Bigham, Andrew Blalock, Roberta W. Brown, Robert K. Christensen, Clinton Easterbrook, Helen M. Hagens, Bernice S. Houston, Nancy Miller, Charlotte A. Malone, Mervyn H. Porter, William L. Platt, Merle A. Pyle, Vance Perry, and Charles Roesschen.

BLOOD IS DESPERATELY needed for treatment of hospitalized servicemen, the Red Cross announces, and also for the production of gamma globulin to be used against the paralytic effects of polio. Official Red Cross figures show that, as of June 30, 794,790 c.c.s of gamma globulin had been produced at a cost to the Red Cross of more than four million dollars. An additional supply of four million c.c.s must be produced between July 1 and December 31.

As of July 24, gamma globulin was fighting polio in 11 epidemic communities selected by the ODM to receive it. More than 135,000 children have already received shots made possible by contributions of blood.

Mrs. C. Alex Culver, of Montgomery, Alabama, mother of a four-year-old who received a shot of gamma globulin during the epidemic, wrote a letter to the editor of the Montgomery "Advertiser" expressing her thanks to the Red Cross.

She said, "I remember all too well last spring when a group of motherly deers their very best to awaken all of us to the fact that if the Red Cross goal was not reached here,

Water We Gonna Dew About This?

"You've heard about people having ice-cream in their veins," the weatherman said to us as he took a temperature reading. "Well, I've got rainwater running through mine."

"The only reason I mention it," he said matter-of-factly, "is that the bloodmobile is coming around and I don't know whether or not they can use what I've got. Seems to me as if they might take a pint or two in case they have to give a transfusion to another weatherman someday."

We wondered if he had to take injections of anti-freeze in the winter time to keep from freezing his veins, but he was telling us that the high for the period between August 13 and yesterday morning was 86 degrees on Tuesday and the low was 45 degrees on Wednesday.

And as you can tell by the dry hills, there has been no rain yet this weather year.

Therapy Drive Backing Asked By Civic Affairs

Endorsement of Mt. Diablo Therapy Center's "Operation Good Neighbor" $75,000 fund drive for its planned new building was urged by the Orinda Association's Civic Affairs Committee Monday night.

The Civic Affairs recommendation comes before the association board next Monday night.

The month-long Therapy Center campaign will start on Monday.

Civic Affairs delegates, meeting in the Orinda School auditorium, acted in favor of the drive after hearing Edgar B. Stewart of Orinda, general chairman of "Operation Good Neighbor," tell of the Therapy Center's need for enlarged facilities and recount the history of the center.

THE MT. DIABLO Therapy Center is unique in that it was completely locally conceived and thus far has been completely locally supported," Stewart said.

"It was organized in 1950 as a non-profit corporation. It was operated by Mary Doyle, an experienced therapist, in inadequate facilities in Walnut Creek.

"The center has been in three different locations, each new one bigger than the preceding one. The quarters are still not sufficient. The center has completely outgrown its present facilities."

STEWART DECLARED that the program "merits the support of all of us here."

He pointed out that about 75 percent of the Therapy Center budget income is from fees by patients or families of patients, based on ability to pay, and that the other 25 percent comes from the community in the form of gifts and donations, with nine auxiliaries (a 10th is being organized) raising money by means of various affairs and endeavors.

Other actions by the Civic Affairs Committee included:

1. REFERRAL To the Orinda Planning Committee of a request from the Glorietta Improvement Association for support in objecting to plans of E. E. Nicolai for building a home and two buildings on Morningside Court, near Seaside Drive in Orinda Hills subdivision.

A letter from Paul Pollaczek, president of the Glorietta group, stated that Nicolai proposes to use the two extra buildings, each to be 25 by 75 feet. "For the purpose of growing orchids commercially in an area zoned R-A within view of our homes."

NICOLAI'S land use application is scheduled to come up before the County Planning Commission Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

Although Nicolai had submitted his plans to the plans approval committee of the Glorietta Improvement Association, the Glorietta organization has no jurisdiction in the matter, Pollaczek's letter stated.

POLLACZEK and Charles A. Nelson, secretary of the Glorietta club, were present at the Civic Affairs meeting. Pollaczek said his area would be represented at the Planning Commission hearing.

Civic Affairs members said an effort should be made to have disposition of the matter delayed until a master plan is developed for Orinda.

2. REPORT by Chairman Frank Hart that forms have been sent to all improvement associations in Orinda for suggestions for Orinda Association directorship nominations and for Civic Affairs chairman.

The neighborhood clubs have been asked to submit their suggestions to Hart at his home, 100 Drive.

LIONS-ROTARY rivalry — all in good fun and for a worthy cause — was demonstrated by the softball game Monday between the two Orinda service clubs at Acalanes High School field Monday night. Left to right are Dan Popovich, Rotary team captain; Frank Shirey, Rotary president; Ken Courtwright, Lions president, and George Hartzell Jr., Lions treasurer and team captain. Shirey and Courtwright are going through the traditional bat-grasping ceremony for the benefit of the photographer, although, obviously, they aren't choosing sides. In a last-inning rally the Lions won — official score was 4-3, but just for the fun of it the inning went on until the side was retired and a 6-3 score had been chalked up. The losing Rotarians turned $10 over to the Lions; this sum, plus $10 donated by the Lions, will be used for some worthy public cause of the Lions' choosing. — SUN photo by Ned Davis

If Lions Roar More Than Usual, Reason May Be 4-3 (6-3?) Victory over Rotary

Orinda Lions and Orinda Rotarians battled it out in a softball game at Acalanes High School diamond Monday night — and the roaring Lions won.

It wasn't easy, though. Rotary, having scored two runs in the first inning and one in the fourth, was leading 3-0 when the Lions came to bat in the last half of the fifth.

That was when the big rally of the Lions started.

THE LIONS SCORED three runs in the fifth, tying the score.

They held the Rotarians scoreless the first half of the sixth. In the second half of the sixth, the Lions scored the winning run. By then it was starting to get dark, so it was obvious that this would be the last inning.

The official score was 4-3, according to Umpire Leighton MacGregor (a Rotarian). But since it was all informal, the game continued until the side was retired.

RESULT: The Lions chalked up two more runs, for a total score of 6-3.

Asked later about the umpire's claim that the score was really 4-3, Joe Navone, Lions athletic director, snorted:

"Humpf! He's a Rotarian — what do you expect?"

HOWEVER, the rival clubs cooperated for a worthy cause. As the losers, the Rotarians forked $10 over to the Lions. This money, together with $10 donated by the Lions, is to be used for a community or civic cause selected by the Lions.

PLAYERS were:

Popovich was team captain for Rotary. Hartzell was the Lions' team captain.

FOR THE FIRST INNING Lou Borghesani of Lafayette served as umpire. Then MacGregor took over the ump duties — and, much as it may have pained him, he saw his fellow-Rotarians go down to defeat.

"Anyways," MacGregor observed later, "nobody can say I wasn't a fair umpire!"

Officials Warn About Bad Checks

Checks of the Tyrell T. Gilb Company of 5464 Claremont Avenue in Oakland bearing the numbers 829-840 should not be cashed, authorities warned Wednesday.

The Emeryville branch of the American Trust Co. informed that Martinez branch that three such checks had been cashed by Martinez and Concord firms and they are not good.

The checks had been stolen from the Gilb Company, according to officials.

Paul Taylor and R. L. Martin were on the checks as payees. Officials didn't disclose the amounts of the bad checks.

C of C Concerned Over Itinerant Peddler Problem

Recent increase of door-to-door peddlers and solicitors was a problem discussed at the Orinda Chamber of Commerce luncheon meeting at Casa Orinda Tuesday.

Suggestion was made that perhaps such peddlers should obtain clearance from the chamber, but it was pointed out that the chamber does not have authority to issue such clearance.

MAGAZINE SALESMEN are among those who have been peddling in business and residential sections, according to Dr. Edwin J. McCord, president. Persons approached are often confused as to whether the solicitor is bona-fide or fake, he pointed out.

Assistant District Attorney Thomas F. McBride stated yesterday that Ordinance 262 requires peddlers without a regularly established place of business in Contra Costa County to obtain a permit from the county clerk's office if they sell any of the following items:

Hay, grain, feed, seed or straw; fruits or vegetables; groceries; meats, fish, gasoline, eggs, oils, automobile accessories, dry goods, furnishings, ready-to-wear articles, clothing, boots or shoes, crockery, glassware, tinware, hardware, paints, sporting goods, tobacco, cigars, cigarettes, tobacco smokers' articles, candies, confections, beverages, distilled wine, malt or distilled liquors, bakery goods, jewelry.

MAGAZINE SALESMEN are not included in these provisions, McBride said.

Ordinance 596 allows the Board of Supervisors to grant a free permit to an honorably discharged veteran. Non-veterans must pay for a permit.

McBride explained that Ordinance 262 is very old and does not define a fixed place of business.

"WE HAVE CONSTRUED lack of a fixed place of business to mean persons whose place of business is not sufficiently established so that the customers can clearly know where it is," he said.

He added that cities have their own ordinances controlling door-to-door peddling.

UNITED CRUSADE was discussed at the chamber meeting, but no action was taken.

Mrs. Laura Mallary, chamber vice-president, reported on the recent meeting at the Harvey B. Lyon home in Lafayette, which she attended.

STEPS WERE TAKEN for cleaning up of the business sections at the Crossroads and in the Village. Dr. McCord appointed R. E. Wadsworth and Ewart Phair as a committee to investigate possibilities.

Following the committee's study and recommendations, cooperation of merchants will be sought.

LATER THIS WEEK, Walter E. Friberg, bus shelter chairman, reported that papers for the sale of the shelter at the Crossroads to the State Division of Highways for $585 have been turned over to the Division of Highways.

The papers were signed by President McCord and Secretary-Treasurer R. E. Gemetti Jr.

Friberg also said he had been informed by the East Bay Municipal Utility District that a statement by EBMUD that it has no financial interest in the structure was sent to Harry L. Kagan, right-of-way agent for the Division of Highways.

Being awaited was the $585, which the chamber will place in a special fund, to be used for construction of a new shelter after completion of the Freeway Interchange.

THE NEW ORINDA Business Directory, issued by the chamber, has been distributed to all merchants, business people and professional people in the community.

Andy Blalock, chamber manager, was in charge of this annual project.

County Should Have Own Fund Drive - Wardley

Alfred G. Wardley, director of the East Bay United Crusade, said this week that Contra Costa County should have its own united fund drive.

At present there are five prominent united drives within the county, each operating separately, although three of them are affiliated with the East Bay United Crusade.

Wardley indicated that he favors one county-wide fund drive here. He said, "It's high time that Contra Costa County has its own united crusade set-up."

He went on to say that such a county-wide organization could join the recently-formed Bay Area Federation of United Crusades and thus benefit from donations made by commuters at their jobs in Oakland and San Francisco.

He also said that it will probably be impossible to form a county-wide crusade in Contra Costa until next year, at least.

THIS YEAR the local organizations, including the Diablo Valley Area Advisory Board to the East Bay United Crusade, will have to carry on separate campaigns, Wardley indicated.

The Diablo Valley Board was formed earlier this year to connect Walnut Creek, Lafayette, Orinda, Pleasant Hill and the San Ramon Valley with the East Bay United Crusade.

The 1953 East Bay United Crusade is scheduled to begin October 6.

To date only three individual fund-raising organizations have joined the Diablo Valley Board organization. These include the United Defense Fund (USO), Boy Scouts and Y.M.C.A.

The Bay Area Federation of United Crusades was formed a month ago by the directors of United Crusades in Marin and San Mateo Counties, in San Francisco and in the East Bay.

ACCORDING TO Wardley, it is "loose federation" designed to permit the smoothest kind of cooperation in all areas of the campaign, particularly at the public relations and the fund-raising levels.

The federation provides machinery for re-distributing commuter donations back to fund-raising organizations in the residential areas of the Bay Area.

Don Grant of the San Mateo County United Fund explained this week that the federation provides a solution to "the very difficult problem of commuter donations."

Grant also explained that each of the four crusades in the new federation is responsible for its own quotas and for its own local drive.

A county-wide united drive in Contra Costa, if it were formed, could join the federation in order to benefit from commuter and industrial donations and still retain the responsibility for local quotas and drives, both Wardley and Grant indicated.

UNDER THE PRESENT set-up with the Diablo Valley Board, the quotas of individual organizations can be reviewed and adjusted by the allocations committee of the East Bay United Crusade in Oakland.

Wardley pointed out, however, that this year the quotas from the Diablo Valley organization were accepted without screening.

He also urged the public to lead the drive of the Diablo Valley and all other affiliated boards have a voice in the decisions of the East Bay Crusade allocations committee.

Two other united crusade organizations in Contra Costa County — those in Concord and Martinez — are affiliated with the East Bay United Crusade in the same manner as the Diablo Valley Board.

In Richmond an independent united drive exists. Spokesmen for that drive have indicated that they wish to join a Bay Area Federation, but no such action has been reported so far.

The last united fund drive in the county is in the Pittsburg-Antioch area. It also is an independent organization.

Mrs. Richard Kelly Wins Treasure Trip

Winner of the Contra Costa Shopping News Treasure Trip contest is Mrs. Richard Kelly of 510 Florence Drive, Lafayette.

She and her husband win a free weekend for two at Holman's Guest Ranch in Carmel Valley.

Mrs. Kelly was one of 35 contestants who correctly named their resort. So that the winner could be chosen, the tied contestants were asked to complete the following statement in 25 words or less:

"I read the Contra Costa Shopping News and The SUN because —"

"I read the Contra Costa Shopping News and The SUN because the Shopping News is my weekly reminder that it's smarter to Shop at Home! and The SUN is my reliable source of complete local news."

The statement of Mrs. Kelly was delivered to The SUN at noon Monday. Deadline for all statement-entries was Monday.

THE MANY STATEMENTS submitted were all considered excellent by the judges. However, Mrs. Kelly's was chosen as best because it seemed to sum up most concisely and graphically the writer's reasons for reading the Contra Costa Shopping News and The SUN.

"I'm thrilled and happy — and we're certainly ready for that weekend," Mrs. Kelly said when informed she was the winner.

Mr. Kelly, an office employee at the University of California in Berkeley, agreed with his wife as to the readiness and added:

"The work in the contest was hers. I didn't help at all."

The Kellys have two sons, Juan, 9, and Stephen, 7. At the university, Mr. Kelly is an editor in the office of George A. Pettit, assistant to President Robert Gordon Sproul. He is now on vacation.

LIKE THE HUNDREDS of other participants in the Treasure Trip contest, Mrs. Kelly studied clues in three issues of the Contra Costa Shopping News — Trip Tips in the display ads and among the classified ads, and a special Bonus Clue each week.

The prize is two complete days (including meals and two nights) for two at Holman's Guest Ranch, on the same trip. Transportation, tips and other expenses are not included.

"My hobby each spring," Mrs. Kelly said, "is collecting resort folders. I guess you could call that vicarious traveling or wish-thinking. This time the hobby really paid off."

HOLMAN'S GUEST RANCH, a short drive from Carmel, Pacific Grove and Monterey, is a 400-acre pleasure-spot where guests can relax in comfort and enjoy horseback riding, swimming in the ranch pool or fishing in the nearby Carmel River.

The guests' activities are not marred by commercial atmosphere or planned routine. The resort management describes its aim as "well-fed, companionable relaxation."

The Santa Lucia Mountains effectively block fog from seeping to any extent into this land of mellow sunshine.

WHEN THE HOLMAN family, California pioneers, decided to own their beautiful Carmel Valley holdings to a limited guest list, their goal was western hospitality at the gracious top level.

The absence of any hotel-like trappings in no way limits the personal regimen to which a guest may be accustomed.

EBMUD Announces Tax Reduction of One Cent per $100

Taxpayers of the East Bay Municipal Utility District will save approximately $94,000 next year as a result of a 1 cent reduction in the District tax rate, announced this week by Joseph J. Breuner, president of EBMUD's Board of Directors.

The new rate for the 1953-54 year will be 26 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

Breuner stated that the tax rate reduction was made possible by an increase since last year of approximately $36,000,000 in the assessed valuation within the district, plus continued economies in the operation of the local water system. Approximately one-third of the tax saving is attributable to the increased assessed valuation and two-thirds to economies within the district.

"This tax rate reduction is consistent with the district's policy of holding tax and water rates at the lowest levels possible and passing on to the people the savings realized from broadened tax bases and increased efficiency of operation," Breuner said.

Breuner pointed out that the anticipated tax savings of $94,000 is in addition to the estimated $850,000 annual saving which will result from EBMUD's lower water rates, which will go into effect on September 1st, thus providing a total saving to customers of the District of almost $1 million per year.

The tax revenues received by the utility district cover approximately 60 per cent of the annual costs for bond retirement and interest payments. Funds to meet the balance of these costs are derived from water and power sales and other revenues. The original bonded debt of $77 million has been regularly reduced, and now amounts to a little less than $45,200,000. The property owners of the District now have an equity of approximately $76 million in their non-profit public utility.

Originally, the district's tax rate was established at 50 cents. Over the past thirty years, this has been reduced to a little more than one-half this figure. Water rates have been steadily reduced, the latest reduction being the fourth since the people of the East Bay began receiving water service from EBMUD in 1929.

In conclusion, Breuner said, "The entire EBMUD organization is continually working to build and maintain an efficient, business-managed public utility worthy of the continued support of the taxpayers and citizens it serves. We are pleased that we can continue to reduce taxes and water costs for our people."

$314,494 Estate Left by Teasdel

According to an appraisal on file at the office of County Clerk Walter T. Paasch, Frank W. Teasdel, who died June 1, 1952, left an estate valued at $314,494.

The estate is wholly community property and half automatically passed to the widow, Ruth, of 13 Virginia Drive.

Except for the home, willed to the widow, and a $5000 bequest to Frederick C. Heine, executor of the estate, his entire estate is placed in trust with the Bank of America, according to terms of the will, for Teasdel's children, Lynne, 16, and Gayle, 8, both of Orinda.

No provision is made for an adopted son, Boyce Ahlport, the will explains, because he will be provided for by his stepfather.

The two girls will receive the income from the estate until they are 40, when the principal will be divided between them.

The estate includes $64,333 worth of shares of Airport Limousine Company, United Motor Express Company shares valued at $9,223, $108,510 owed Teasdel by United Motor Express and Manning Tank Lines; two promissory notes for $181,239.

Teasdel owned 25 per cent of the stock of Manning Tank Lines, which owns Lang Transportation Company.

Acalanes District Trustees To Meet

The Board of Trustees of the Acalanes Union High School District will meet at 8 p.m., Thursday night at the district office at Acalanes.

Purpose of the meeting will be to open bids for construction of additions and tennis courts for Las Lomas High School.

A Community Hospital with Striking New Ideas ...

By CHARLES BOSLEY

It's exciting and different — a dream and an experiment!

The new Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Walnut Creek is attracting a lot of attention, not so much because it is the first public hospital in the area, but because it is a new departure in hospital design.

It may sound like a press agent's "blurb," but the fact of the matter is that international attention has been focused on the new ranch-style hospital.

Just last month, the Australian Minister of Health made a special visit to Walnut Creek just to look it over.

Time magazine called it "the perfect hospital from the point of view of patients, visitors, nurses and doctors."

New patients will be amazed, excited and, at first, confused by the profusion of automatic self-service devices in each room.

MEDICAL PERSONNEL and hospital administrators wax enthusiastic over the floor plan and particularly what is simply described as "central work corridors."

Visitors will be intrigued with the glass-walled rooms which are entered through sliding glass panels from sunny walkways through some seven acres of gardens.

During the next week the complete facilities of the new $2,000,000 hospital will be open to the gaze of the public. There is a lot to see and everyone will want to make the tour.

The dream of Dr. Sidney R. Garfield, Kaiser Foundation medical director who has worked out plans with Henry J. Kaiser himself, the new hospital is in the final stages of completion this week.

The first 74-bed unit will be ready to receive patients of doctors in the area about September 1. An additional 20-bed unit is already under construction.

The new structure completely eliminates the long, bare and gloomy passageways of the conventional hospital, and with them, it eliminates the noise and congestion resulting when visitors use the same corridors as nurses, doctors and other staff personnel who must handle meal carts, linen carts and movement of beds and equipment.

Instead patients receive visitors directly from the covered lanais outside their rooms.

The central corridors are widened and completely devoted to the work of physicians and nurses.

They contain utility rooms, drugs, X-rays, treatment materials, instruments, linens, charts — all within easy reach of nurses.

AND THESE NURSES work from individual stations — one for every eight patients — established in the work corridors. At the door into each room are service shelves for linens, food trays and a built-in clothes hamper.

Spaced between the nurse stations are utility cabinets containing cabinets, sinks, sterilizers, refrigerator and hot plates.

In contrast to the business-like aspect of the central corridor, the patient's rooms are keyed to comfort and convenience.

Beds are raised and lowered by electric motors with a push-button control so that the patient can make his own adjustments.

Beside each bed, within reach of

OPEN FOR PUBLIC INSPECTION next week, the new Kaiser Foundation Hospital on South Main Street in Walnut Creek is revolutionary in design and, for medical authorities, one of the most exciting ideas is the "central work corridor" pictured above. For hospital staff members only, the central corridor has decentralized nurse stations complete with every conceivable kind of facility close at hand. Residents of Central Contra Costa County may tour the new public hospital beginning Sunday.

the patient, is a built-in cabinet containing lavatory with hot, cold and ice-water taps; a telescopic unit containing push-buttons controlling a five station radio, a nurse call and a light switch.

Also within reach of the bed are a coffee percolator and a toaster for use by the patient, a telephone and a switch which electrically opens or closes the colorful fibreglass drapes covering the floor-to-ceiling window which looks out on the lanai and gardens.

Rooms are air-conditioned with humidifying and refrigerated cooling throughout. Ceilings are of the acoustical type to deaden noise.

IN THE MATERNITY department a new concept of the "living-in" plan has been effected.

A private nursery is located adjacent to the mother's room at the head of her bed, but separated by a sound-proof wall.

The infant's plastic bassinets rest in a steel drawer built into the wall between the mother's room and the nursery; it may be pulled to the mother's bedside at bed level as simple as one pulls a drawer from a desk.

Linens and other supplies needed for the baby's care are conveniently stored in a drawer ready for use. With a trained nurse standing by on her call, the mother learns how to care for, how to handle, and how to be at ease with her new baby.

The doctor's regular visits to the infant can also be made in the mother's room. She has the opportunity to watch her doctor examine the child, ask him questions and be assured that her child is receiving complete medical attention.

THE MOST CONSCIENTIOUS

mother must have rest and sleep

during her hospital stay. So when she desires rest, she may turn the baby over to the nurse with a minimum of effort and confusion and with little change in the baby's surroundings.

The mother pushes the bassinets back into the nursery, at which time a light automatically signals the nurse to take charge. The baby does not have to be taken away from the individual nursery, and the mother always may look at her baby through a window built in just above the drawer if she desires.

During visiting hours, the father also "gets acquainted" with the newborn infant, since the mother may pull the bassinets drawer into her room at any time, allowing for regular hospital precautions.

Other visitors may view the infant from the mother's room through her bedside window.

Still other modern innovations have been included in the children's ward of the hospital.

There are four individual, glass-enclosed rooms with beds for eight children. In the center, surrounded on all four sides by the child patients, is the nurses' work area.

The nurses from this central vantage point can keep a careful watch at all times upon the children and, by sliding back a glass door separating a child's bed from the work area, can instantly care for a sick child.

This makes it possible to separate children suffering from various ailments and prevent actually ill children from disturbing the rest of the other youngsters. Other features also are designed to increase individual care and to give the children cheery surroundings.

New High School Students Register September 1 and 2

Registration of pupils new to the Acalanes High School District will be held at Acalanes and Las Lomas High Schools from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., Tuesday, September 1st and Wednesday, September 2nd, according to Neil M. Parsons, District Superintendent.

Parsons stated that on these dates, counselors would be on hand at the schools to assist prospective students in outlining their courses. This procedure will apply only to pupils who were not in school in the district last spring. Others have already registered.

Las Lomas counselors also will be on hand Monday, August 31st, to discuss programs with students already registered, where conflicts in scheduling may exist. These students have already been notified by mail.

Ninth, tenth and eleventh grade pupils living in the Walnut Creek Elementary School District will register at Las Lomas High School. Twelfth graders will sign up for classes at Acalanes High School, as will all high school students living in the Lafayette, Orinda, Canyon, and Moraga Elementary School Districts.

High school students attending school for the first time in the Acalanes District are reminded that no registrations will be taken on Thursday, September 10th, the first day of school.

Freshman Orientation Day will be held at Acalanes High School on Tuesday, September 8th, according to Stanley W. Walgren, Principal. Coming two days before regular classes open on September 10th, the program for the day is designed to acquaint beginning students with the school and some of its procedures.

Buses will pick up students at 1 p. m. at both the Lafayette Plaza and Orinda Crossroads, and will return them at about 8 p. m. Each pupil will provide a bag lunch for the picnic supper which will be part of the day's activities.

After meeting in the auditorium, where some school procedures will be outlined, pupils will meet with their class advisers for further instructions. They will have lockers assigned and other routine matters will be discussed.

Following this, a sports program will be held at the school, which will be followed by the picnic supper.

Navy Reserves Meet

Naval Reserve Composite Company 12-25 met Tuesday, at 7:30 p. m. in the Air Reserve Quarters, Mt. Diablo Boulevard, Walnut Creek.

Speaker of the evening was Lieutenant Daniel O. Evans, instructor at the Damage Control School, Treasure Island, who spoke on "Damage Control."

'Mind' Topic of Christian Science Sermon Sunday

"Mind" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read Sunday in all Christian Science churches.

The Golden Text will be taken from I Samuel: "The Lord is a God of Knowledge, and by his actions are weighed" (2:3).

Citations comprising the sermon will include the following:

The Bible: "Whoso looketh into the perfect law of liberty, and continueth therein, he being not a forgetful hearer, but a doer of the work, this man shall be blessed in his deed. So speak ye, and so do, as they that shall be judged by the law of liberty" (James 1:25; 2:12).

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The history of our country, like all history, illustrates the might of Mind, and shows human power to be proportionate to its embodiment of right thinking. The despotic tendencies, inherent in mortal mind and always germinating in new forms of tyranny, must be rooted out through the action of the divine Mind" (p. 225).

Art-Garden Center Dispute Referred to Diggs After Hot Debate by Both Sides

Two hours of spirited pro and con arguments characterized the second public hearing before the County Planning Commission Tuesday night on the proposed amendment of the Zoning Ordinance to permit art and garden centers in Suburban-zoned areas.

Following the discussion, on motion of Commissioner Joseph D. De Costa, seconded by Commissioner E. H. Ward, the hearings were declared closed and the matter was referred to County Planning Consultant Charles Hayes Diggs for his report and recommendation, according to Assistant County Planning Technician H. Russell Griffith.

Griffith said that Diggs is expected to submit his report and recommendation next Tuesday night.

THE COMMISSION will review Diggs' report and will make its recommendation to the Board of Supervisors. Griffith estimated it will be "at least a couple of weeks" before the commission recommendation goes to the supervisors.

After receiving the county planners' recommendation, the supervisors will conduct a hearing of their own and will take final action.

Spokesmen for the zoning amendment, which would immediately affect four other Suburban-zoned areas where minimum lot size is one acre, included Superior Judge Thomas Coakley of Marinosa County, Alhambra resident who is requesting the change; Harold F. Wise of Menlo Park, planning consultant; Attorneys T. H. DeLap and James Cox of the law firm of Tinning and DeLap, and Richard C. Dinkelspiel of Kentfield, Marin County.

Opposition speakers included Attorney Richard Townsend, representing the Alhambra Valley residents, and President Harold M. Hays of the Happy Valley Improvement Association of Lafayette.

IN ADDITION to Alhambra Valley, Suburban-zoned areas in Contra Costa County are the Canyon Ranch section of Orinda, south and east of Sleepy Hollow; a part of Happy Valley in Lafayette; Brookwood Acres in northern Redwood Valley, Lafayette, and a section near Concord.

Griffith said that probably 100 interested persons were at the hearing Tuesday night. At one point Townsend asked those from Alhambra Valley opposed to the zoning amendment request to sign. Some 50 or 60 stood up, Griffith estimated.

TOWARD THE END of the hearing, Commission Chairman J. P. Connors asked if anyone was present in opposition from areas other than Alhambra Valley. Only Hays responded, declaring the directors of the Happy Valley Improvement Association are on record against the proposed change, Griffith reported.

At the first hearing on the matter before the Planning Commission on Aug. 4, Hays presented a resolution of Happy Valley directors expressing opposition.

Last Tuesday night, Townsend presented another group of petitions opposing the art and garden center proposal. About 90 signatures were on these petitions, according to Griffith.

Highway Patrol Unit to Serve as Sheriff Reserves

Members of the State Highway Patrol Auxiliary, killed by an appropriations measure in the last session of the State Legislature, have been sworn into the Sheriff's Reserve in Contra Costa County, 86 strong, by Sheriff James N. Long.

Jesse Jones of Walnut Creek and Ted Hart of Lafayette will be unit leaders of the reserve in its new status. They report that the reserve will maintain its separate identity as a special traffic division in the sheriff's reserve program.

John Soares of Walnut Creek will act as traffic leader and Earl Long of Walnut Creek will be in charge of records. With other section leaders, they will form a council to govern the group.

Deputy Sheriff Allan Rhodes, training supervisor, outlined to the group training courses to be given this fall at East Contra Costa Junior College.

Professor Ray Laws told the men of the judo courses available to them.

Under sheriff's jurisdiction, the traffic officer reserves will wear sidearms on duty.

New shoulder patches and badges have been ordered for the unit.

mayor for seven of those years.

Burgess praised the Allied Arts Guild as "an asset to the community as a whole" declared "the residential area in which it is situated is considered the most desirable for its presence" and pointed out that "there is no commercial zoning near the Allied Arts Guild, nor has there been any request for it in the past 11 years."

De Lap urged those fearing the type of center planned by the Trautman to look at the Kensington Park, a beautiful home in Kensington Park.

SENATOR MILLER declared that the centers in Ross and Menlo Park are charitable and welfare activities but that the one planned for Alhambra Valley would be a commercial venture.

He stated that a sewage problem would result from the fact that a septic tank is now at the premises, that contamination of some water might be caused and that the sewage problem could be solved only by costly sewer installations.

The senator reiterated his arguments of two weeks ago that he and others in the area wished to keep Alhambra Valley quiet and rural.

TOWNSEND also reiterated his arguments of two weeks ago.

He maintained that an art and garden center would be an opening wedge for more commercial ventures and declared that the people of the area would object any time a land use permit were sought for an art and garden center.

Gas and electricity are cheap in California

How P. G. and E.'s low rates save the Shipseys money

Here are the appliances that make the Shipseys' attractive Chico home even more enjoyable:

The Shipseys' P. G. and E. bill (recent month) . . . $8.48 In their former home, the same amount of electricity and gas would cost . . . $16.03

One of the first things that impressed Mr. and Mrs. Shipsey when they moved to California in 1950 was that gas and electricity cost far less here than in their former home. The Shipseys can also measure this bargain in another way: P. G. and E.'s combined rates are actually lower now than in 1938. So let low-cost gas and electricity do more of your work . . . give you added leisure.

Vacations Just Aren't Long Enough

Orindans are still coming and going with the hot breath of summer urging them to seek cool spots for vacationing.

Some prefer places like Stinson Beach which are relatively close, while others make the trip to Tahoe as often as it can be managed. AS ALWAYS with vacation plans, children can be a problem and some of them are being left behind while others, usually the older ones, are being sent on vacations of their own.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Lorne Jr., 20 Crescent Drive, have a summer place in Stinson Beach which they think is fine. They have already spent a good deal of time over there and are still spending weekends when they can.

"It really has fairly decent weather," said Mrs. Lorne. The fog usually drifts away by noon and the afternoons are nice."

THE LORNES have two children, Denise, 3, and Michael, 2, who are a wee bit young to swim, "but they swim after their own fashion," said Mrs. Lorne.

When asked if they were going to take a longer trip, say to Tahoe, Mrs. Lorne answered, "No, but I wish we were."

Among the people who do go to Tahoe are Dr. and Mrs. O. L. Losey, 91 Lombardy Lane.

"We have three children," said Mrs. Losey, "and sometimes we invite friends up, but generally we just go by ourselves. The fishing in the mountain streams is wonderful and we both love to fish."

She said that she was not as good a fisherman as Dr. Losey because she "just can't do the things he does," he's wonderful."

However, she did admit that they usually managed to have trout for breakfast.

THE A. U. LUNDS of 90 Hillcrest Drive visited relatives for a vacation. The relatives, however, happened to be in Portland, Ore., and the Lund family took in some of Idaho on the trip also, so it turned out to be quite a trip.

They took along their daughter, Janet, 4, "and she didn't mind driving that distance at all," said Mr. Lund.

A family which has had to more or less watch the children go by is that of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey H. Lowthian, Overhill Court. "We've just been turning our heads from side to side watching the children come and go," said Mrs. Lowthian.

HARVEY JR., 18, has just returned from two weeks with the U. S. Naval Reserve summer camp. As soon as he came home from that camp he was promptly sent to Oregon for a week.

Phil, a junior at Acalanes High School, 16 years old, went fishing and camping with some friends in Idaho.

The family was scheduled to go to a wedding in Los Angeles, but the parents were forced to stay home from that occasion. Paul, 6, the youngest member of the family got the measles.

MRS. LOWTHIAN commented that the family was still going to make an effort to get to Tahoe Monday night at the director's meeting.

Both Hart and Veitch pointed out that the suggested changes are intended to make functioning of the Orinda Association more efficient.

Gray is chairman of the board's by-laws revision committee.

3. RECOMMENDATION that the board endorse the coming Girl Scout fund drive.

This action was taken after Margaret Gompertz of the Orinda Girl Scouts asked about the attitude of the Orinda Association regarding the Orinda Scout campaign, since the association has backed United Crusade in principle and the Girl Scouts are not part of this year's United Crusade.

4. REFERRAL to the Community Center committee, headed by Kirk Miles, of a letter from the General Petroleum Corporation stating that mile west and 0.7 mile east of Orinda Junction (IV-C, C-75-A), about 1.2 miles in length, to be graded and paved with Portland cement concrete pavement on cement treated subgrade and a reinforced concrete box girder bridge to be constructed.

Bids are required for the entire work described herein.

In accordance with the provisions of Section 1770 of the Labor Code, the Department of Public Works has ascertained the general prevailing rate of wages applicable to the work to be done to be as follows:

and relax for some sort of vacation. She also said that they didn't want to take the boys along, but that the boys objected to this violently, so in order to keep the family together they would probably go en masse.

There are two MacDonald families in Orinda who are newcomers and both are sticking pretty close to home.

The first is Mr. and Mrs. Bruce MacDonald, 221 La Espiral, and Mrs. MacDonald's only comment was that "we have only recently moved here and we are not going anywhere."

SHE THOUGHT that they would just stay home and take care of the garden, and possibly look around the local scene a little.

The second is the family of Dr. and Mrs. James MacDonald, 9 Los Aromas. "This is our first year here," said Mrs. MacDonald, "and we like it pretty well . . . well enough to stay right here and relax."

The MacDonalds have a son, Mickey, who will be going to the University of Oregon next year and a little daughter, Katie, 4 years old.

MRS. L. D. MACGREGOR, 128 Las Vegas, has taken a trip to Auburn to visit her sister Mrs. Jerome Baezel. They are planning to leave later this year but they are not sure where they will go.

"We thought we would go to Florida," she said, "but I don't know. It is too hot here. We may just go down to Southern California."

The firm's sales department is interested in establishing a branch at the northeast corner of San Pablo Creek Road (Orinda Highway) and Irwin Way.

The location is on Community Center property owned by the Orinda Association.

5. ANNOUNCEMENT by Hart that Mrs. H. F. Neller of Lafayette, chairman of a countywide citizens' committee for establishment of a county rehabilitation camp for boys, will be at the September meeting to explain the proposal.

She had been invited to appear last Monday night.

Scouts Praised For Leadership And Teamwork

Four young men of Mt. Diablo Council, residing in Orinda, have recently returned to their home from a 36-day experience as members of a Junior Leader Training Troop at Philmont Scout Ranch, near Cimmaron, in northern New Mexico.

Each Troop is made up of 32 Junior leaders, averaging over 16 years of age, chosen because of their outstanding record in Scouting, and capable of being trained to conduct similar Junior Leader training events back home.

Special honor was awarded one of these young men, Jeff Rodden, 428 Moraga Highway, member of Explorer Post 300, in that he was chosen permanent Patrol Leader - a leader among leaders.

HE RECEIVED high commendation from the scoutmaster of his Training Troop, who stated that Jeff's general attitude was such that whenever something came up, Jeff was there to do it. He did his share and more."

High praise also went to Phil Hunter, 28 Sunrise Hill, member of Troop 207, Orinda. According to his Scoutmaster, Phil's attitude and interest in the course was never failing, in that he always wanted to learn new and better things; his team work" ability was one of the main reasons his Patrol rose to be one of the best in the Troop. His general attitude was exceptional, because he always wanted to help other people."

PETER ST. HILL, 600 Tunnel Road, and Tom Hannan, 20 Las Vegas, both of Post 300, Orinda, each were rated as having good teaching ability by their Scoutmasters, which should be of benefit to the members of their Post at home."

Residence alteration, $1500, owner and builder C. O. Ford, 98 Underhill Road.

$1458, residence addition, owner and builder John P. Cataline, 285 La Espiral.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Notice is hereby given that sealed bids will be received by the Board of Trustees of the Orinda Union School District at the Orinda Union School, Orinda, California, at any time prior to 6:00 P. M. on September 1, 1953, for the painting of the buildings on the grounds of the Orinda Union School, San Pablo Highway, Orinda, California, in accordance with the specifications for the same dated August 3, 1953.

Said specifications and bid forms are available to interested bidders in the office of the District Superintendent of Schools, J. L. Sheaff, Orinda School, Orinda, California. Pursuant to Section 1773 of the Labor Code the Board has ascertained the general prevailing wage scale in this locality in which said work is to be performed for each craft or type or workmen needed to execute the work, as follows:

Classification per hour Painters (7 hr. day) $2.70 Apprentices (7 hr. day) 2.70 Spray (7 hr. day) 2.70 Laborers (Group 3) 1.85

Overtime work in any regular working day is regular time and one-half. Saturday, Sunday and Legal Holiday work is double regular rate. Each bidder shall accompany his bid with a cashier's check, or a certified check, drawn on a solvent bank made payable to the Orinda Union School District, for not less than 10% of the total amount of his bid, all in keeping with the said specifications. The successful bidder to whom the contract is awarded shall give two surety bonds acceptable to the Board of Trustees, one bond shall be for the full amount of the contract price for Faithful Performance, and one bond shall be in the amount of fifty per cent of the contract price for protection of materialmen.

The Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids and to waive any irregularity in any bid.

Dated this 3rd day of August, 1953. CATHERINE SCHWARCK, Clerk of the Board of Trustees Orinda Union School District.

Steps to Abandon Sacramento Northern Tracks Delayed by Franchise Dispute

Still pending this week, after more than a year and a half, were Oakland Terminal Railway's application for a Union Street franchise in Oakland and Western Pacific's plans for eventual abandonment of its Sacramento Northern tracks from 40th Street and Shafter Avenue to West Lafayette station.

Sam Fordyce, executive assistant to the president of Western Pacific Railroad reported that the requested Union Street franchise was discussed again with the Oakland City Council July 21 and that further discussion with the council is expected to be held.

Fordyce explained that if the Oakland franchise is granted, Oakland Terminal Railway will apply to the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to construct tracks on Union Street, and Western Pacific will apply to ICC for permission to abandon some 16 miles of Sacramento Northern tracks.

Oakland Terminal Railway is jointly owned by Western Pacific and Santa Fe Railroads. Sacramento Northern Railroad is owned entirely by Western Pacific.

WESTERN PACIFIC, if the abandonment, okay is received, intends to tear up and sell as scrap the Sacramento Northern tracks from 40th Street and Shafter Avenue, Oakland, to West Lafayette station, according to Fordyce.

However, Fordyce estimated that it would probably "take six months to a year to get through the ICC."

Before it would be possible for the applications to ICC to be made, there would also be necessary delays, the Western Pacific official pointed out.

"EVEN IF the Oakland City Council votes in favor of the OTR franchise, that vote would be one of intention," he said. "Legal publication would be necessary, and there would be a 30-day period prior to public hearing and final action."

The requested franchise is for four-tenths of a mile on Union Street, from 12th Street south to Fifth Street. From Fifth Street the operation would be on Western Pacific land from Fifth Street.

ASKED WHETHER there is any possibility that the Sacramento Northern tracks might be kept so that, as has been urged by many Central Contra Costa County residents, SN passenger commute service could be resumed, Fordyce stated he did not think so.

"My own feeling," he said, "is that, since our franchise on Shafter Avenue, with the city of Oakland, has expired, the expense involved in an attempt to renew it would not be justified."

AT THE RECENT session with the Oakland City Council, according to Fordyce, the question of annual payments to the city was discussed. "There was some argument as to whether Oakland Terminal Railway should put up a basal performance bond or whether Western Pacific should underwrite a guarantee for any obligations assumed by OTR," Fordyce said.

After the franchise application was first made in January, 1952, the Parent-Teachers Association in Oakland objected to a railroad line in the vicinity of 12th and Union because of proximity to the Cole School.

HOWEVER, in the course of several Oakland City Council hearings, OTR agreed to limit operations to the period between 6:30 p. m. and 6 a. m.

W. E. Fribergs Back From Hight Ranch, Reno, Lake Tahoe

Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Friberg of 19 Via Filaredo, Orinda, returned home last Saturday from a four-day trip to the Lake Tahoe area, Reno and the Feather River country in Plumas County.

A ride in the "Sky Chair" from Squaw Valley to Squaw Park and a stay at Camp Richardson were highlights of their Tahoe visit.

After Tahoe and Reno, they visited Frank and Dee Hight, former Orindans, at their 200-acre Golden Feather Ranch at Sloat in Plumas County.

They found the Hights enjoying their life at the ranch. The Hights raise trout - in one pond alone there are over 200,000 trout. Water to the ranch comes from Poplar Creek.

While at the Hights, the Fribergs fished in Feather River. "In 30 minutes we caught 12 of the most delicious trout you could want," Friberg reports.

About our happy Country Folks

By EDITH BOLMAN

Home from Europe — Sig Groenings who met son Sven in Amsterdam and then, together they went to Oslo Norway where Mr. Groenings lived as a boy. It was an "old home" three weeks seeing all the relatives and friends. Having not been there for 26 years he was quite impressed with the contemporary buildings — particularly apartment houses with "modern" exteriors and stainless steel kitchens.

OF COURSE a certain amount of loot was brought home as a result of shopping escapades but the "piece de resistance" was the sword Mr. Groenings had carried when he went to the Oslo Military Academy which corresponds to our West Point. Also home is youngest son Arne who has been attending the Scout Jamboree so back to the kitchen for Mother who has been holding forth in solitary glory — too bad it isn't one of those new Norwegian apartment models.

Dick Spight, Bill Morrish, Eric Murray and Fred Breuner are off for a canoe and fishing trip at Thompson Lake in British Columbia.

Cocktail party at the James Seamans for sister and brother-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Russell Van Winkle of New Jersey. The visitors are being shown all the sights from the Sequoia trees at Armstrong Forest to the cable cars in San Francisco. Turn about being fair play Mrs. Van Winkle is going to swap jobs with Mrs. Seaman and become major-domo of the household (safety word for baby sister) while the Seamans and the Berton Kohlers go to Las Vegas on vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. James Brown attended the National Sales Executive Convention at Atlantic City and then went to New York, Philadelphia and Boston where they visited Mrs. Daniel Maloney (Nancy Miller).

DID YOUR AUNT Emma leave you a couple of dollars in her estate? Do you have some affairs of your own you would like given proper care? Well here is your chance to hear how it is done — Mr. James F. Morris of the renowned investment house of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Beane is going to give a talk on the subject "Investment facts for Women" November 17 on the Orinda Branch morning lecture series at the Orinda Country Club. Mr. Morris is an expert in the field having gotten his M.A. in business administration at Stanford and has been with Merrill, Lynch et cetera et cetera in both New York and Oakland.

Seriously speaking these are facts we should all heed so call Mrs. Ernest Kahl at Orinda 7321 for a ticket — five lectures on varying subjects for five dollars — if you stay for luncheon you can also see a Joseph Magnin fashion show which might make "Investment Facts for Women" even more of a problem than you had previously suspected.

Cocktail party last Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James North.

The Kenneth M. Davidsons here from Rio de Janeiro visiting the Ronald Schachts.

Mr. and Mrs. John Watson are home from Laguna.

Mrs. Bernard Wilbur, Kitty and Micky are home from the Berkeley Camp at Echo Lake where they saw the Mel Arighis and Susan, and the Frank McCanns and Terry and Dennis. They saw someone else in rather unusual circumstances too — Frank Newman and his three young were stranded in the middle of the lake with engine trouble — the sight-seeing boat came to the rescue, removed the outboard motor to return for repairs so Mr. McCann had to paddle home by brute strength.

The Jack Barkleys spent last weekend at Tahoe.

THE DON FARLE WHITES and four little ones are home from Rio Del Mar.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Pyle are home from the Hawaiian Islands.

Visiting old friends in Orinda — Mrs. Jack Bannister.

Mr. and Mrs. William Brock plus Ted, Charley, Jimmy, Betsey and Tommy have returned from a month at Inverness.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Miller are home from the north fork of the Umpqua River where they have been steelshead fishing.

The Fred Borden visited the David Wallaces at Tahoe last weekend.

Guns shooting up the peaceful calm of Lafayette — a horse just horsing around — lambs roasted in the ground — cowboy orchestra, hay stacks to sit on — candles in paper bags for lighting — host and hostess dressed in cowboy garb — dancing — such was the party on Saturday last in the beautiful gardens of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McGuire.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Detling are back from Colorado and Ohio where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Frank Detling and Mrs. Harriet Apple.

Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Rogers and Carleen and Cathy are home from Tahoe.

Home from Honolulu — Marlene Bannister who will soon go off to Mills College to take a post-graduate course.

Mrs. Fred Goodwin and Kay and Terry home from a trip East. That is all.

Wine, Bugs and Antibiotics Are The Concern of John Gardner

A combination of scientific study, military service and a liking for the classics has produced a new idea about wine.

John Gardner, 1645 Pleasant Hill Road, Lafayette, is responsible for the idea. He graduated from the Pharmacy School of pharmacy and California this spring, but before this event he happened to be talking to a group of professors about an idea he had.

HE EXPLAINED to them that he thought that wine may be a source of germ-killing antibiotics. Dr. Robert Pratt, professor of pharmacy and a leading researcher in antibiotics, was impressed and encouraged Gardner to do independent research on the problem.

Gardner's idea came from the following train of thought. From his studies of history and medicine, and from personal observation, he knew that the people of the Mediterranean area and the Near East had always had a high incidence of intestinal diseases — typhoid, paratyphoid, dysentery, etc.

He also noted that modern Western armies in this area, even in World War II with modern protective measures, had a high incidence of intestinal infection.

YET IN ARMIES from Caesar's time down to Napoleon, casualties from these causes were not so great. Indeed, with the smaller numbers of men — for example in the Armies of Caesar, where a relative handful patrolled vast territories containing hostile people afflicted with intestinal infection — losses of any magnitude would have been disastrous.

Gardner noted that the armies invading this area in historical times drank a great deal of wine. Usually, they took their wine with them, and the Roman soldiers drank wine under military orders.

IN ONE CASE, as they prepared for an expedition on which they could not take their own wine, the commanders brought in native wine from the area to be invaded and conditioned their troops to it by departing by ordering them to drink it in small quantities over a period of time.

Gardner also noted the "old country" custom of adding small quantities of wine to drinking water.

All of these things led him to believe that wine might contain some anti-bacterial substance which would inhibit intestinal parasites — perhaps an antibiotic produced in fermentation.

HE DID ISOLATE an anti-bacterial substance, which has yet to be named, from red wine which had been fermented for from two

Mormons to Hear Archaeologist Speak

Thomas Stuart Ferguson, 1 Irving Lane, Orinda, has recently returned from Mexico and Central America where he headed an exploratory expedition into the lands presently occupied by the Mayan Indian tribes of Yucatan, southern Mexico and Guatemala.

He is leading a series of discussions in the adult group of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormon) who meet each Sunday at 12:30 p.m. at the Orinda Community Church.

The people of the community are cordially invited to attend. BESIDES VERY valuable knowledge, Ferguson brought back artifacts of a high order which he has discussed and shown to various groups in Orinda and elsewhere and which date into the archaic period, along with colored slides of the expedition's work.

There has never been any dispute among archaeologists or ethnologists as to the culture and grandeur of the Mayan race.

There is, however, a variance of theories and opinions as to when this race came into being on our western hemisphere. The greatest enigma of all is the origin of this cultured race which flourishes today in a state of decadence in the peninsula of Yucatan, southern Mexico, Guatemala and elsewhere in Middle America.

IT IS THIS PROBLEM of origin that prompted the recent expedition into Middle America, where for some 5 months just past, the New World Archaeological Foundation has been at work on exploratory work only, in the lush jungle

Community Church Gets Paint Job

The front of the Lafayette Community Methodist Church was transformed in one day. It was not done with mirrors or any trick, but just a lot of paint and plenty of hard work.

Harry Sommer, chairman of the Board of Trustees, organized the project.

ROSE DIXON, a painting contractor who is a member of the Church, brought his ladders and buckets and organized the painting crew.

The following men in addition to the two already mentioned did the work: Bill Bank, Dwight Birch, Frank Bryant, Jim Cunningham, John Cutler, Carl DeTar, Martin Lewis, Andy Steele, Harry Shaner, and John Tinay.

The cross on top of the church was painted. You have to ask Bill Banks how it feels standing on almost nothing and reaching up over one's head with little or nothing to hold on to.

Steeple Jack Banks they call him now. Peggy Cunningham and Marge Sommer provided refreshments to the painters.

Now that the front is transformed, the side and back will be transformed tomorrow at 8:30 a. m. All able bodied painters are invited to the party.

Playshop Melo Is Approaching

On September 12, the doors of the Lafayette Town Hall will open wide as "Love Rides the Rails," melodrama deluxe, opens for an extended run of fun and hair-raising antics.

Presented by the Lafayette Playshop, under the direction of Buster Mair and Louise Welty, Orinda, Walnut Creek, Concord, Alamo, Danville, and Lafayette citizens have combined talent and hard work to produce a show that is expected to rival the highly successful "Dirty Work A-Go-Go" which broke all laugh records in Contra Costa County two summers ago.

There will be ample parking space for all 20th century woes and worries outside the Town Hall and fun loving (we hope), audiences will leave their troubles as they enter the 19th Century atmosphere of Can-Can girls, busy villains and harassed, though beautiful heroines.

Iva Hamilton heads the cast as Prudence, a girl who has learned to say "No," with gestures for every occasion. Her hero, Truman Penndennis is played by Paul Hansen, who stoutly maintains "strong liquor has never touched my lips." Backing them up, other members in the cast include Lyn McKee, Jack Holder, Dick Steffens, Jack Lynch, Ruth Cole, Marylyn Hansen, Mae Machuca, Keith Lynn and Jan Hamilton.

Performance nights are set for September 12, 19, 25, 26 and October 2 and 3.

Competition Held By Camera Club

The Contra Costa Camera Club held its regular meeting July 28 at the Orinda Community Church.

The evening was devoted to color slides, with Al Mesen as guest judge. His selections were: "B" Group: first, Abe Doty; second, his son Dick Doty; third, James Hokanson; fourth, Alex Howard; fifth, John Ammon.

"A" Group: first, Ed Nelson; second, Hal Grant; third and fourth, Ben Randall; fifth, Hal Grant.

The Club was host for the August N4C interclub competition which was held Aug. 18 in Fellowship Hall of the Orinda Community Church.

Another meeting was held Aug. 11 and was devoted to prints with Dick Davidson of the Berkeley Camera Club as guest judge.

All interested are invited to Club meetings.

Mrs. Fiske Gets Post

Mrs. Oliver Fiske Jr., 22 Camino Sobrante, Orinda, has been named treasurer of the Berkeley Area Branch, Zeta Tau Alpha Alumnae.

The group met recently at the Piedmont home of Mrs. Charlotte MacGregor Bogg.

Go to Church Sunday

J. Henry Thomas To Give Service

With the Rev. J. Henry Thomas officiating as guest priest, morning prayer service will be conducted for members of St. Stephen's Episcopal church Sunday morning at 8:30 at the Orinda Community chapel.

Rector of St. Clement's Episcopal church in Berkeley, Mr. Thomas will preach in place of the Rev. Charles M. Hill, vicar of the Orinda mission, who is teaching at Galilee, on Lake Tahoe, the Diocesan Camp of the Missionary District of Nevada, where he is on the faculty for the Junior Churchmen's Camp.

Music has been arranged by Mrs. T. J. Fahay, choirmaster and organist. St. Stephen's choir will sing as offertory anthem, "God is a Spirit" by Bennett, and Mrs. Fahay will offer as organ solos, "Adagio" by Cesar Franck, and "Postlude in F" by Roberts. The choir will assist in the hymns, "Jesus Shall Reign," "O Love that Will Not Let Me Go" and "Praise My Soul, King of Heaven."

Work was started last week on the new St. Stephens Church and vicarage buildings by R. F. Johnson and son, general contractors of El Cerrito.

Approximately 150 working days are expected to bring the project to completion, according to Walter E. Christie, chairman of the church building committee, with the vicarage ready for occupancy well before Christmas.

Motts Entertain

The William Penn Motts entertained with a barbecued chicken dinner August 9 in their Ardilla Road home for 23 members and wives of the Fairy Land Committee of the Oakland Advertising Club, and Mr. Lynn Harris, assistant superintendent of Oakland parks.

Rev. Fred Morrow Back to Pulpit

After a vacation of four weeks in the High Sierras, the Rev. Fred Morrow resumes his duties at Orinda Community Church Sunday, beginning with the morning worship at the regular summer hour of 10:30 a.m.

It is anticipated that his message will convey to the congregation much of the spirit of the mountain-top experiences he has been enjoying recently.

The featured music of the morning worship will be provided by Odette Weatherbe, soprano.

She will sing "Hear My Cry, O God" by Cesar Franck.

The organist this Sunday will be Mrs. Virginia Baker. For her selection she has chosen "Priere" by Thomas, "Adagio" by Schubert and "Ah, Leave Us With Thy Grace" by Karg-Elert.

The organ meditation for the period of prayer and meditation will be "O Rest in the Lord" by Mendelssohn.

Here Comes The Bride

Dorothy Bargones, Roy Van den Heuvel Married in Orinda

An afternoon ceremony at Santa Maria Catholic Church in Orinda joined Dorothy Gail Bargones and Roy Joseph Van den Heuvel in marriage last Saturday.

Dorothy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Bargones, 208 Camino Sobrante, Orinda, walked down the aisle in a ballerina-length white gown with a lace bodice which extended to end in points in the skirt.

Her skirt had a satin underskirt and was covered with a tulle netting. Her veil was short illusion set beneath a crown of white lace and seed pearls.

SHE CARRIED a silk bride's handkerchief which was carried by her mother at her wedding. Her flowers were white anemions from Hawaii, brought over by her sister, Mrs. Roy May.

Maid of honor was Carol Jean Bargones and the matron of honor was Mrs. May. Junior bridesmaid duties were performed by Miss Linda Bargones.

The three attendants were dressed in pale green shantung. The material for the gowns was purchased in Tokyo by the bride's sister, Carol. All three had sweetheart necklines with the yards of skirt in unpressed pleats. Caps of green shantung matched the gowns.

The attendants carried red anemions.

THE BRIDE was given in marriage by her father, and the ceremony was performed by Father Harrington.

Roy, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Van den Heuvel, 3388 Las Huertas, Lafayette, asked Robert Smith to perform best man duties and Ronald Bargones and Fred Hanson to usher.

Both bride and groom are graduates of Acalanes High School. Roy has been attending Menlo College and Dorothy San Jose State. She was affiliated there with Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

THE RECEPTION was held at the bride's home after the 2 p. m. wedding.

The bride's mother wore an ice-blue satin afternoon frock with satin slippers to match. She had on a white satin hat and a corsage of pink anemions.

Mrs. Van den Heuvel wore a royal blue crepe dress with white trim, set off by a white hat and navy blue shoes. She also wore pink anemions.

The couple has returned from a honeymoon at Lake Tahoe, Las Vegas and Grand Canyon and will be at home at 422 Hawthorne Street, Oakland.

Farady Farr is Betrothed to Miss Phyllis Norman

The betrothal of Phyllis Norman to Farady Farr of Walnut Creek was announced recently at an informal gathering by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Norman at their home on Barbara Road in Oakland.

Farady is the son of the late Colonel and Mrs. Hassan Giffanfar of Tehran, Iran and a brother of Matthew Farr of Walnut Creek.

He attended both San Francisco City and San Francisco State Colleges, majoring in industrial art and architecture.

He is affiliated with Alpha Zeta Sigma Fraternity.

The young couple plans to be married Sept. 13.

Phyllis is a graduate of the College of the Pacific where she majored in modern languages and is a member of a pioneer California family.

New OES Chapter Installation Tonight

A new Order of Eastern Star Unit, the Silver Chalice Chapter of Pleasant Hill, will be instituted and their officers will be installed in ceremonies beginning at 7:30 p. m. tonight in the Mt. Diablo High School gymnasium in Concord.

Officers to be installed include: Mrs. Norma Funk, worthy matron; Nelson Parker, worthy patron; Mrs. Lillian Rosemont, associate matron; Paul E. Botton, associate patron; Julia Botton, conductress; Mabel Cook, secretary; and Margaret Symonds, treasurer.

THE UNIT, which started organization more than a year ago is now the Silver Chalice Star Club and will be the first new eastern star chapter to be formed in the area for more than 20 years.

Almona Chapter of Walnut Creek is nearing the half century mark and Concord Chapter is more than 20 years old.

More than 1,000 people including grand officers of the order are expected to be on hand to watch the event.

Silver Chalice Club has a membership of 110, 76 of whom will receive degrees tonight.

APPOINTEE officers of the chapter are Herbert McGee, chaplain; Abigail McKenna, organist; Patricia Funk, marshal; Isabelle Bates, Adah; Sue Gabbert, Ruth; Edith Bergh, Esther; Florence Henderson, Martha; Peggy Unger, Electra; Ann Parker, warder; John Dewey, sentinel; and Adolph Brose, flag bearer.

NOW ENJOYING A HONEYMOON at Sun Valley, Idaho, are the newly married Mr. and Mrs. Daniel A. Sammet (Diane Silveira). The couple was married Saturday afternoon in the Arlington Avenue Community Church in Berkeley. Diane is a teacher for the Walnut Creek Elementary School District. Some 250 friends and relatives of the pair congratulated them after the ceremony. — Ted Gurney photo.

Diane Silveira Becomes Bride of Daniel A. Sammet

The newly-married Mr. and Mrs. Daniel A. Sammet (Diane Silveira) are now enjoying a honeymoon at Sun Valley, Idaho.

The couple became man and wife Sunday in a ceremony at the Arlington Avenue Community Church in Berkeley, conducted by the Rev. J. Hood Shively, pastor.

The bride was given away by her father, Leland E. Silveira of 40 Lennox Road in Berkeley.

DIANE, A TEACHER for the Walnut Creek Elementary School District, wore a white tulle gown with white nylon tulle over white satin. With her strapless dress she wore a long-sleeved tulle jacket. Satin roses trimmed her sleeves and full skirt.

A snort tulle veil fell from a cloche of tulle and orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of white orchids surrounded by stephanotis.

Doreen DeJean of Danville, maid of honor, wore a pale green walking dress with a green and white matching mitts. She wore an orchid headband with white daisies and she carried a cascade bouquet of orchids and white daisies.

Mrs. Donald Morse and Miss Patricia Rees of Berkeley, bridesmaids, wore matching dresses and carried matching bouquets all with colors reversed.

PAMELLA THATCHER of Berkeley was flower girl wearing a white dress with a green and orchid sash and she carried green, orchid and white daisies cascading from her orchid and satin net basket.

Mrs. Silveira chose a beige satin two-piece dress for her daughter's wedding, with black velvet accessories. She wore a corsage of white orchids.

Daniel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Sammet of Richmond. His mother wears a midnight blue lace dress with pale pink accessories and an orchid corsage.

Peter Sammet, Daniel's brother, was best man. Ronald Silveira, brother of the bride, Lee Morse of Sacramento, Marshall Smith of Richmond and Robert Page of Berkeley were ushers.

Jimmy Silveira, brother of the bride, was a prior usher and walked with the flower girl in the procession.

SHERWOOD THATCHER of Berkeley was soloist and sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer," Mrs. George Cake played the organ.

A reception for some 250 friends and relatives of the newlyweds followed the ceremony at the Brazilian Room in Tilden Park.

When they return from their honeymoon, the couple will live in a Telegraph Avenue apartment.

Daniel will attend San Francisco State College, seeking a secondary teaching credential and Diane will continue to teach in Walnut Creek.

Underhills Return From Sardine Lake

The Bob Underhill family of Brown Road, Lafayette, Bob and Len and three children, Phyllis, Patty and Woody, returned tanned and happy from a 10 day camping trip at Sardine Lake.

Located about 20 miles from Downeyville on the Yuba River, the camp was reported an ideal spot for a lazy relaxing vacation of fishing and swimming.

Now that they are home, Mr. Underhill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Underhill, also of Springhill Road, have gone to take over the camp for a short time.

CAKE-CUTTING GROOM and equally happy bride, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Deaver Lassagne (Janice Phyllis Comstock), are shown at the reception following their double ring marriage ceremony at Hillcrest Congregational Church in Pleasant Hill last Saturday. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Hawley Lassagne of Happy Valley, Lafayette. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd B. Comstock of Walnut Creek.

Lassagne-Comstock Wedding Performed In Pleasant Hill

About 300 friends and relatives last Saturday witnessed the beautiful marriage ceremony of Janice Phyllis Comstock to Theodore Deaver Lassagne. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert L. Carlson at the Hillcrest Congregational Church in Pleasant Hill.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Floyd B. Comstock of Walnut Creek. Her gown was made of tiers of white net over pink satin, topped by a short white lace jacket. Her satin slippers were of the same pink satin.

She wore a short elbow-length tulle veil held in place by a lace coronet, trimmed with orange blossoms and carried an old-fashioned bouquet made of pink roses, carnations and white stephanotis.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Marilyn Geary, sister of the bride. The bridesmaid, who caught the bride's bouquet, was Miss Doris Rae Hitch of Berkeley. Janice's sorority sister at the College of Pacific.

Both attendants wore pale aqua tulle with matching lace over skirts and picture hats. They carried shower type bouquets of pink Fuji chrysanthemums.

THE BRIDE'S MOTHER, Mrs. Floyd Comstock of Walnut Creek, wore a gown of grey shantung with scattered small flower print, with matching hat and gloves and a corsage of rose-pink begonia and white stephanotis.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Hawley Lassagne of Happy Valley, Lafayette. His mother wore a gown of copper grown crepe and a jeweled hat with gloves in the same light shade.

She wore a corsage of small green and brown orchids.

Arthur F. Lassagne served his brother as best man. Robert Verran of Grass Valley and William Reynolds and Douglas Beede of Walnut Creek were ushers. Mrs. David Comstock, sister-in-law of the bride, was soloist and was accompanied on the organ by Frederick Freeman of Walnut Creek.

The couple met at Acalanes High School, where they were both outstanding students and musicians. Janice was graduated in June from College of Pacific, where she was a music major and a member of Mu Phi Epsilon music sorority.

Ted is a music major at San Francisco State College. After their honeymoon in the South, they will live in San Bruno, where Janice will teach in the San Bruno Public Schools system.

The RECEPTION followed immediately in the patio of the church, which was decorated with ivy and pink petunias. Mesdames Wilbur A. Jacoby of Alamo, an aunt of the bride, Lois Chestnut of Dos Palos and the Misses Julia E. Jacoby and Virginia Vereschagin of Berkeley assisted at the reception.

Plan Western Barbecue at Country Club

It will be western clothes and a chuch-wagon barbecue for members of the Orinda Country Club who attend the director's Party tomorrow night.

Twice a year, usually in January and August, the Directors of the Orinda Country Club sponsor a party at which the food is "on the house" to members and their families who make reservations.

This year the party will be western style, as indicated by the following invitation sent to members. "As I've been told

There's a rip-roarin' round-up 'At the ole swimmin' hole. Directors told us the grub's all free.

But likker for sure is on you and me. Western duds, or you don't make the gate. Chow time's at eight, so you don't be late."

There will be square dancing to the western theme and an aquacade put on by daughters of members. Jim Sweet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Sweet will do comic diving and Barbara Stark will give an exhibition.

Gordon Heche will play for dancing around the pool. The party is supposed to be limited to 300 members, but as of Wednesday over 400 reservations had been returned to the club.

Linnett Auxiliary To Hold August Meeting in Alamo

Linnett Auxiliary to the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center will hold its August meeting Monday at the home of Mrs. A. Campbell on Gaywood Road in Alamo.

As planned by Mrs. Campbell and her co-hostess, Mrs. William Preuss, the meeting will be a combined business and pleasure event for the unit.

Mrs. M. C. Bolender, president, will begin the session at 11 a. m. and discussion and planning of a three day sale at the Therapy Thrift Shop on September 10, 11 and 12 will be the main item of business.

Mrs. C. Newbury is in charge of refreshments for the meeting. After lunch, members will enjoy swimming.

The Therapy Thrift Shop, Linnett Auxiliary's activity, has been recently completely refurbished and re-arranged to include new counters, shelves and other equipment donated by members and friends.

The shop is open Friday from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. and Saturday from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. Mrs. A. Campbell and Mrs. E. Radford are chairmen of sales this weekend.

Trail Riders Plan Annual Endurance Trip Up Mt. Diablo

President R. E. Flackus of the Concord Mt. Diablo Trail Ride Assn. has appointed Fred Brotsch III as the general chairman of the 13th Annual Trail Ride to be staged over Labor Day weekend, Sept. 5, 6, and 7.

This year's ride has a large number of contestants already signed and an anticipated many more to follow.

For thirteen years horsemen from all over the country have entered this endurance ride which takes them over the hills of Contra Costa County, up the slopes of Mt. Diablo, a trip of 45 miles on the first day, to barbecue terrace where they are served a steak barbecue and rest for the night.

Rising early the next day the riders descend for the last lap of their ride, which ends at the Concord Mt. Diablo Trail Ride Grounds for judging and final awards are made at the Rodeo and Horse Show on Labor Day, September 7.

Brotsch has appointed his committees as follows: John Owen, trail master; George Cardinet Jr., assistant trail master; Prosper Olivera and Bob Mattson, advisors; Mrs. Del Owen and Mrs. Ruth Becker, timers; Gene Lockhart, farrier; Dr. Robert Dullum, veterinarian; Dan Lynch, co-ordinator; Dick Wallace, communications; Bob Foskett, chairman of right-of-way procurement; Mr. and Mrs. "Bob" Flackus, assisted by Mrs. Fred Brotsch III, barbecue and lunch committee; Marshall McKean, weight-master; Mrs. Prosper Olivera, trophy chairman.

Another feature of this three day event is a non-competitive "just for fun" "B" ride. This ride meets the competitive ride for lunch the second day and also for the barbecue, which affords an opportunity for the "B" riders to enjoy the pleasures and fellowship of the event even though they were unable to condition their horses for the competitive ride.

Grodins Splits In Two League Games This Week

Grodins softballers split this week in the two league games played on Monday and Wednesday nights.

They lost to the hot and cold Tiny's Hut nine, 8-2, in the Monday game and edged by the luke warm Super Saver crew, 3-1, Wednesday.

In the Monday game, Grodins got their only runs of the game in the bottom of the first frame when they made three hits pay off with two markers on the scoreboard to lead 2-1.

The hutmen came back slowly but steadily, scoring single runs in the first, third and fourth innings. In the sixth they broke loose, scoring three more runs and they added two more in the seventh to bring their total to eight.

Winning pitcher Ed Bill threw a five-hit game and he was backed by two-error fielding. He whiffed a total of 16 other batters.

The losing hurler, Henson, gave out but three hits, while his teammates committed five errors. He struck out nine hutmen and allowed seven to advance on balls, compared on only one base on balls by Bill.

Wednesday night, Super Saver scored their lonely run in the first half of the first inning. The clothing hurlers played a flawless game, compared to four-error fielding by market men.

Junior Softball Trophies to Be Given Tuesday

The perpetual trophy to the winning team in the Junior Softball League sponsored by the Walnut Creek Recreation Commission will be presented Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Elmer Hansen, chairman of the Walnut Creek Recreation Commission will act as master of ceremonies.

In addition to the championship trophy a new perpetual trophy has been added in honor of the boy who has displayed the highest degree of sportsmanship throughout the season.

This award has been made possible by Steele's Dress Shop and will be on display in their window on Main Street after the ceremonies.

Recognition will also be given to outstanding players in the league and the winners of the Area Junior Olympics.

Refreshments will be furnished by the sponsors of the teams headed by Bob Johnson of the Kitty Bar.

Local All Stars Edge Concord Jr. Softballers, 6-5

The Walnut Creek Junior All-Stars and the Concord Junior All-Stars met last week in a tilt that took Walnut Creek eleven innings to emerge the victors, 6-5.

Concord wasted little time as they jumped on Dan Buckley starting hurler for Walnut Creek for three runs in the first inning and one in the second to take a 4-0 lead at the end of two innings.

However, Dan settled down in the third and retired the side — one, two, three, Ronnie Nelson came on in the fourth inning and pitched scoreless ball for three innings until being relieved by Joe Sibley.

The Walnut Creek All Stars scoring single runs in the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh innings knotted the score. In the top half of the tenth inning the Concord All Stars scored a run to move into a 5-4 lead only to have the Walnut Creek All Stars tie it up in their half.

In the bottom half of the eleventh inning Terry Yeager got on base by virtue of an error and then stole second. The next two batters struck out.

With the tying run at second and two down Doug Sherbourne dropped a Texas leaguer into right field scoring Yeager easily.

In five complete innings Joe Sibley struck out 11 batters and was the winning pitcher.

Cannery Junior Softball Nine Wins Rec League

The Walnut Creek Cannery Company Junior Softball team, league champs, was upset last week by Reichhold Chevrolet, 5-3.

The Walnut Creek Cannery Company was striving for its ninth win in as many outings when they ran head long into a determined Reichhold Chevrolet nine that was not to be denied.

The game was the conclusion of the 1953 Junior Softball League sponsored by the Walnut Creek Recreation Commission.

Reichhold Chevrolet assured itself a tie for second place with Kelly Bar with its upset victory over Cannery Company. Both teams finished with a 5-5 record. Berkeley Savings and Loan finished fourth with a 4-6 record. Walnut Creek Sheet Metal and Optimist Club tied for fifth.

The Yankees in the Peanut League are in first place with their 7 wins and 1 defeat followed by the Braves with a 5-2 mark. The Phillies of Parkmead were third with a 4-3 record and the White Sox were fourth with a 4-4 mark. Other Peanut League teams finished as follows, Indians fifth, Dodgers sixth, Cardinals seventh and Giants eighth.

Hard Top Feud Revival Expected

Local racing fans are expecting the revival of the Bob Caswell-Woodward feud tomorrow night when the BCRA hard tops return to Contra Costa Stadium.

Caswell, well-known Walnut Creek daredevil, spun Woodward out of last Friday's trophy dash and went on to win the event. When Caswell returned to the pits the Hayward driver was waiting for him. They exchanged words, but no extra-curricular action developed.

The feud grew several weeks ago when Woodward spun Caswell out of two certain main event victories. In another race Caswell attempted to spin Woodward but spun out himself.

Tomorrow night's program will be the return to action of Lee Humphers of Richmond and Bill Maher of Vallejo. Humphers will have a new race after demolishing his old Number 5, while Maher has recovered from a hip injury suffered on another track.

Local Golf Clubs In Champ Tourney

The Orinda Country Club and the Contra Costa Golf Club are among 130 California golf clubs sponsoring the 42nd Annual Championship of the California Golf Association.

The tourney will be held Sept. 28 through Oct. 4 this year.

The competition will be played at the Pebble Beach golf course and the Cypress Point Club course with a handicap tourney play at the Del Monte and the Monterey Peninsula Country Club courses.

Chess Expert to Demonstrate Here

Arthur Bisguier, former United States Junior Chess Champion and recent winner of the Vienna Tournament, will present a simultaneous display of chess at the Walnut Creek Recreation Center August 31.

Sponsored by the Diablo Chess Club, Bisguier will play all comers at the regular meeting of the club which begins at 8 p. m.

Since the entire East Bay Area must be served at this one exhibition, the number of boards must be limited.

Players are accordingly advised as possible to be assured of playing. The Diablo Chess Club can be contacted at YE 4-9014.

The exhibition will be the second chess program presented by the Diablo Club this year. Earlier, George Koltanowski, teammate of Bisguier at the Chess Olympics, lectured on that event and on his recent tour of Europe.

The response to this visit by one of America's younger international masters will probably determine what events will be presented by the Diablo Chess Club in the coming season.

It is the hope of the Club members that Arthur Bisguier's visit will be the beginning of a series of exhibitions by some of the chess-world's interesting figures.

Chess-players who are unfamiliar with a simultaneous display can visualize the event as a contest of numbers and time against experience and ability.

The chess master must face each of thirty or forty boards, one at a time, making a move at each board in a few seconds, while his antagonists prepare their moves in the few minutes it takes for a complete round of the boards.

But even against these odds, the master usually piles up an overwhelming score, allowing a loss rarely and only a few draws.

The Diablo Chess Club meets every Monday night at the Recreation Center during the regular season.

Football Exams at Las Lomas Tuesday

The first call for fall football activities at Las Lomas High School has been issued by Coaches George Deklotz and Merrill Callow.

All boys interested in playing are being informed that they are to report for physical examinations Tuesday, August 25th, at 9 a. m. Football gear will be issued Monday morning, August 24th, and the first practice of the season held that afternoon.

This year, the Las Lomas Knights will field a Junior team, which will play a regular schedule of eight games. Mt. Diablo High School at Concord will host the Las Lomas team in their first game of the season on September 17th. A large turnout of players is expected.

Boron, Plant Nutrient 'Cinderella,' Needed — but in Very Small Quantities

By BERT WRIGHT
BORON IS THE "CINDERELLA" of plant nutrient elements.

For many years it was regarded as an undesirable impurity in potash compounds used in plant food mixtures.

Hence, many states required plant food manufacturers to guarantee that their products contained no more than a certain minimum percentage of this supposedly dangerous element.

Actually, too much Boron is highly toxic to plants, but nowadays, in contrast to the days of yesteryear, boron in the form of borax is especially added to complete plant food.

BORON, AS ONE of the group of "trace elements", is needed by plants in very, very small quantities.

In common with the other trace elements, its specific functions in plant growth are as yet not clear. It is known, however, that where this element is deficient, plants exhibit hunger signs, or deficiency symptom patterns which are corrected when a little borax is added to the soil or sprayed on the foliage.

PURE BORON is an extremely scarce, high-priced and rather useless, brown, powdery metal, but the common borax, a compound containing this element, has a variety of uses, one of the most important being a raw material in some plant food mixtures.

Boron deficiency has been found in apples, alfalfa, sugar beets, red beets, cauliflower, cabbage, celery and citrus fruits, just to name a few.

SOME ALKALINE soils and acid soils that have been over-limed have been deficient in boron.

This nutrient element leaches through the soil profile rapidly, and on extremely deficient soils annual applications must be made.

The use of a complete plant food in the garden will preclude the possibility of boron deficiency.

Lobelia O. K. To Transplant

Beautiful shades of blue accentuated by purple foliage can still be yours if you transplant flat grown lobelia now, according to the California Bedding Plant Advisory Board.

Two shades of blue — the light Cambridge Blue and the delightful deep blue Crystal Palace — will suit even the most discriminating gardener.

THIS VERSATILE, compact, little plant will thrive in the full sun and also in those neglected shaded areas.

Use it generously to provide a continuous border or colorful bed. Use sparingly to provide color in a rock garden or a mixed bed of low growing plants.

Beautiful blue and purple blend well and accent all fall flowering plants.

LOBELIA IS A lazy gardener's dream come true. It attracts few insect pests — withstands periods without watering — and, in return, blooms its head off.

Big dividends from such a little plant prove again that good things come in small packages.

Disbudding Due

Chrysanthemums that have been growing since April in your garden or on nursery shelves will reach the budding stage in the next few weeks.

To prevent them from developing weak blooms and stems, the small buds should be pinched off as soon as they appear. Disbudding allows the plant to grow stronger and larger and results in an equal distribution of the plant's energy.

Your nurseryman suggests that the two side buds on the main stems be pinched particularly in order to create larger and more abundant blooms on the central stalk.

Therapy Center Fund Drive To Start Monday With 'Operation Good Neighbor'

Advance support for "Operation Good Neighbor," Mt. Diablo Therapy Center building fund campaign scheduled to open Monday, came this week from the Walnut Creek Exchange Club, which presented a check for $200 to Edmund S. Barnett, president of the center's board of directors.

Another $100 will be raised by the exchange club within the next two months to complete a $300 pledge toward the new building to be erected at Hookston Road.

EXCHANGE CLUB President Alvin and Treasurer Russ Keith, invited out that their membership considered the therapy center a humanitarian project, which enables the physically-handicapped of the area to be restored to usefulness.

Jack Pedder, building fund speaker, addressed the club and described the center's growth and present services and needs. He stressed the fact that the center must keep pace with the rapid population growth of Contra Costa County, and at its present facilities are strained to the utmost with a constantly-growing waiting list.

BARNETT, in accepting the check, said that the community should be rightfully proud of the center, which is unique in that it is the only operation in the United States, conceived, created and supported by good neighbors from the community.

ANOTHER ADVANCE contribution was made recently by the Walnut Creek Lions Club, which contributed $300 to the campaign. They are planning a benefit affair for the fall which is expected to raise considerable amount to that already donated.

The Pleasant Hill volunteer organization for "Operation Good Neighbor," under the chairmanship of Derald E. Rasmussen and Samuel Bradbard, met recently at the center with a group of volunteer committee chairmen. Attendees were: Marcus R. Peppard, W. A. Harding, Richard Haller, and Mesmes R. A. Fisher, H. C. Quarles, try Mulderky, Eileen Cooper, Ken, Richard Woodruff and J. Anderson.

Danville area leaders, under their neighbor chairman, Mrs. M. W. Cox, met last Friday morning at the Danville home of Mrs. T. Edwards, co-chairman of the committee.

EDGAR B. STEWART, campaign general chairman announced that Carl W. Smith, 61 Moraga Highway, Orinda, will head the professional committee in the Orinda area.

announced were Mrs. Patricia Hart, 35 Shop Lane, Walnut Creek, who will serve as Good Neighbors chairman in the Walnut Creek area; Dr. B. Cobb, 2155 Park, Concord, who will head the professional group in that area; Mrs. John L. Mertz, 18 Santa Lucia, Orinda, who will chairwoman the Good Neighbors Committee in Orinda.

Mr. and Mrs. Z. J. Montgomery of Overhill Court, Orinda, will act as team in chairing a solicitors group there.

At Del Monte Lodge Spending a few days at Del Monte Lodge, Pebble Beach, are S. W. F. Morton of Lower Happy Valley Road, Lafayette and her daughter Audrey.

Orinda Jr. Women Hold Gala Affair At Carroll's Ranch

Twenty-five couples enjoyed the supper-dance given by the Orinda Junior Woman's Club last Saturday, at Carroll's Ranch in Moraga.

In spite of the cooler weather, several of the men went swimming and later the members, their husbands and guests enjoyed a pot-luck dinner around the pool. John J. McCaffery lead the husbands in paying tribute to officers and member-wives of the club.

Several mixers initiated the dancing within the club house. President, Mrs. Walter E. Estes, and corresponding secretary Mrs. Paul Gregg, provided intermission entertainment with a demonstration of the Charleston.

Details of the party were handled by the social committee including chairman, Mrs. John J. McCaffery; co-chairman Mrs. Vernon E. Louis; Mrs. Beau Guinther, Mrs. Richard Farmer and Mrs. Thomas Howard.

Attending the social event were Messrs. and Mesdames Walter Ammen, George Bruns, Mac Chapman, Raymond Currie, Walter Estes, John Everett, Gerald Fitzgerald, Howard Gravelle, Paul Gregg, Thomas Howard, Pierce Hussey, Paul Laferman, Howard Libby, Vernon Louis, John McCaffery, Ross Maynwaring, Norman Miller, Raney Reid, Jack Reiser, Clinton Scarich, Jack Smithers, Julius Speyer, Edmund Wilford, Roy Young.

Mrs. Roy Young is the senior adviser of the club. Mrs. Don Young is president of the Lafayette Juniors.

Walnut Branch Gets Ready for Annual 'Fiesta Mexicana' Preparations are rapidly nearing completion for the "Fiesta Mexicana," annual late summer dinner dance of the Walnut Branch of the Children's Hospital. It will be held on Aug. 29 at 6:30 p. m.

This year, as last, it will take place at the Louis Spott estate on Oak Road in Walnut Creek. The Spott Gardens will be transformed into a bit of Old Mexico for this evening event.

Dinner will be served out of doors on candle-lit tables and will consist of the famous barbecued beef prepared by Larry Blake's in Berkeley.

There will be dancing by the flower-filled pool after dinner, to the music of the Little Jack Horner ensemble.

The general chairman for this event is Mrs. Allen Madison, who is being assisted by the Mesdames A. T. Mackay, Quentin Thompson, Fred Allasia, Richard Emory, Donald MacVean, Richard Martin, Robert Rowe, Richard Hurst, William Anderson, D. Charles Williams, Francis Cornish, and Robert Bruen Jr.

Several new members, who were recently welcomed into Walnut Branch, are looking forward with anticipation to participating in this first branch function. They are the Mesdames Donald Doyle, Ralph Hanna, John H. Bunce, A. G. Spilker and E. E. Rowland.

Tickets may be purchased from any branch member. The proceeds from this function go to help pay for medical care for children from Contra Costa County, whose parents might not otherwise be able to afford the specialized care at the Children's Hospital of the East Bay.

'Fun Benefit' Funds To Help Adoption Unit Send Pamphlet

The Donald Fibush home, 3350 Springhill Road, Lafayette, will re-sound with the sounds of people swimming, playing games and enjoying refreshments tomorrow evening.

The occasion will be the 8 p. m. "Fun Benefit" to be carried out by the Adoption Auxiliary on behalf of the Adoption Unit of Contra Costa County.

Proceeds will be used to help in the distribution of the pamphlet, "Services Available for the Unmarried Mother in Contra Costa County."

Committee members for the benefit include Mrs. Paul N. Pratt, president of the auxiliary; Mrs. Robert C. Keyston, vice-president; Miss Muriel Nelson, supervisor of the Adoption Unit and Mrs. Fibush.

A committee met to approve final revision of the pamphlet recently and make plans for the benefit. Present were Steven Welch, Martinez attorney, and chairman of the Citizens Advisory Committee to the Adoption Unit; Robert C. Keyston, member of the committee; Mrs. Paul Pratt and Mrs. Fibush.

The auxiliary was formed a year ago with one of its primary purposes being the dissemination of information to the public about adoptive children with special needs, chiefly children of minority or mixed races, older children and those with physical or emotional handicaps.

The auxiliary also maintains a question and answer service on adoption. Information can be obtained by writing P. O. Box 44, Lafayette.

Mt. Diablo Mills Club Plans Party Mt. Diablo Mills College Club members will seek "No Business—Fun Only" Tuesday when they bring their children to the home of Mrs. Herbert L. Wildenradt Jr. Tuesday for a summer swimming party.

Members and their children will swim from 10 a. m. until 2 p. m. according to Mrs. Edward H. Conner, club president.

Ice cream will be provided the younger set and adults will be given coffee, though each member is asked to bring the lunch for her party.

DAA to Hear 2 Artists at Meet

The Diablo Art Association will hold its next general meeting Monday at 8 p. m. in Equity Hall, St. Pauls Episcopal Church of Walnut Creek with two well-known artists as guest speakers, Glo Kirby and Dr. Ernest Mundt. The public is invited to attend.

Dr. Mundt needs little introduction to those of the local group who remember his interesting lecture two years ago, and this time he will be teamed with San Francisco Artist Glo Kirby in a round table discussion on "Art Today, What and Why," and the work of the Artists Equity Association.

Both artists are well qualified to present an instructive and enjoyable program, being active leaders in the fields of art. Dr. Mundt is the director of the California School of Fine Art in San Francisco, and the winner of many outstanding awards in sculpture exhibits.

Glo Kirby as director of a large commercial art studio as well as president of the Artists Equity Association.

The meeting will conclude with the usual "Coffee Gallery" where coffee, art, and conversation can be enjoyed.

Capras Vacation The Louis Capras of Aclanes Avenue, Lafayette, and their two youngsters, Ray and Mary Lou, recently enjoyed a vacation at Kings River Canyon.

Heidi Members Discuss Plans For Fall Event

Members of Heidi, Diablo area chapter of the Children's Home Society, met at the home of Mrs. William Siebert in Lafayette this week for swimming, refreshments and business.

Mrs. Alfred C. Phelps presided over the business session that heard a report by Mrs. Theodore H. Lassagne on Heidi's Fall Benefit, of which she is general chairman.

She reported that the event is scheduled for Nov. 5 at the Diablo Country Club and will include a bazaar, fashion show and a luncheon. "Holiday Hit Parade," will be the title of the fashion show featuring clothes selected from Joseph Magin's for holiday wear.

Mrs. J. Wiley House of Danville, Mrs. Griffith A. Squire and Mrs. Arthur Stiefvater of Lafayette will assist Mrs. Lassagne as fashion show coordinators.

Other women taking part in the affair will be: Mrs. Edwin C. Murray of Orinda, tickets; Mrs. James A. McCormick of Lafayette, models; Mrs. J. Morris Browning of Lafayette, reservations; Mrs. Earl Cappel of Orinda, procurement; Mrs. Robert B. Sheppard of Walnut Creek, decorations; Mrs. William J. McGuire of Walnut Creek, program; Mrs. Gilbert W. Myers of Lafayette, special prizes; Mrs. Siebert of Lafayette, grab bag.

Many prizes will be given at the event.

The proceeds of the affair will go to the Children's Home Society, the oldest statewide adoption agency, to aid in the work of placement of children available for adoption.

Since its founding, the agency has placed more than 16,000 children in adoptive homes.

Persons interested in finding out more about Heidi's activities may call Mrs. Phelps at VERNON 7-3271.

Two More Families Now Tuolumne Fans

The Berkeley City Camp at Tuolumne recently added two new families to its list of ardent fans. The Hardin Jones and the Daniel Arnons, both of Springhill Road, Lafayette, recently spent a week enjoying the many varied activities the camp has to offer.

The Jones children, Hardin Jr., Carolyn and Nancy, and the Arnons offspring, Ruth, Ann, Steven and Nancy, were kept happily occupied with programs especially designed for youngsters while mothers Helen Jones and Lucille Arnons were most impressed with the fact that all meals were prepared and served by someone else!

Dads Hardin and Dan joined in the fun of campfire skits, swimming and hikes, and all commented on the very congenial atmosphere found in the camp.

Young Hardin and Steven reported their overnight stay at an Indian hogan nearby as the highlight of their stay.

Back From Sardine

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Seulberger of Lower Happy Valley Road, Lafayette, recently returned from a two week stay at Sardine Lake.

Diablo Valley Choral Holding Social Meeting Each Month

The Diablo Valley Choral has discontinued rehearsals for the summer but has been having one social meeting each month.

The August party was given at the home of Lenore Ramsing in Walnut Creek. Eleanor Dixon, Ruth Shokal and Mildred Martin were co-hostesses with Mrs. Ramsing.

Mr. and Mrs. Nico Snell were guests. Mr. Snell is the new director for the choral.

After luncheon, Mrs. Ramsing showed pictures which she and Mr. Ramsing took on their recent trip to Hawaii. To make the afternoon's entertainment complete, she demonstrated a hula dance which she had learned in the Islands.

Plans are being formulated for a family picnic to be held August 29 near Marsh Creek. The next luncheon meeting will be held on September 2.

Rehearsals will resume sometime in September.

World Federalists Plan Barbecue Party At Orinda Home

Members of the Aclanes chapter of the United World Federalists are making plans for a Western barbecue party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Devin, Jonas Hill Road, Orinda.

The event will take place September 12, starting at 5 p. m. for games and cocktails, with a chicken barbecue dinner served from 8 to 10 p. m., followed by dancing.

Committee chairmen working hard to make the party a success are: from Orinda, Mrs. C. W. Hanks, general chairman; Irwin Kolkhorst, tickets; W. L. Yager and Mrs. Richard Fayram, food; Bob Scott, refreshments; Paul Ammen, special equipment; Norman Roth, decorations.

Lafayette: R. T. Hughes, games. Tickets at $2.50 each, may be obtained by contacting Irwin Kolkhorst at 156 Crest View Drive, Orinda — Orinda 2791.

Both Whittakers Ate the Salmon

Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Whittaker of 3486 Monroe Avenue, Lafayette, returned last week from a two-week vacation at their cabin just outside of the town of Mendocino, below Fort Bragg in Mendocino County.

They report "swell fishing" — although there was a division of labor in that activity, according to Mr. Whittaker.

He says he caught the fish and that Mrs. Whittaker helped him eat them.

Ten salmon, up to 24 pounds in weight each, was the haul of Mr. Whittaker in deep sea fishing out of Noyo Harbor. "Good weather, no wind, calm ocean," he reports.

It Makes Sense...

This week Alfred G. Wardley, director of the East Bay United Crusade, expressed the opinion that Contra Costa County should have its own independent united fund-raising organization.

His recommendation makes good sense. It is clear that the newly-formed Diablo Valley Advisory Board to the East Bay United Crusade is off to a bad start. Only three charity organizations have agreed to participate. Certainly returns will be weak and support less than satisfactory.

Formed to coordinate all fun-raising activity in Walnut Creek, Lafayette, Orinda, Pleasant Hill and the San Ramon Valley, the Diablo Valley Board has not been acceptable to most of the individual organizations involved.

As a matter of fact, there will apparently be just as many separate drives here in 1953 as there were in 1952.

This multiplicity of door-to-door campaigns is the reason why both businessmen and private citizens approve of the idea for a united crusade. It is the reason why a united fund drive must be recognized as desirable beyond any question.

The issue isn't whether to have a united crusade or not, but rather, whether that crusade is to have local administration or East Bay administration.

So far, local charity organizations have indicated that they are against East Bay administration; they have voted against joining the Diablo Valley Advisory Board.

The alternative is an independent Contra Costa County United Crusade, the same kind of organization that Wardley recommends.

There is no reason why such a county-wide fund drive should not be organized.

Currently there are independent united fund drives in Richmond and Pittsburg-Antioch. Each of them has its own structure for administration and its own program for soliciting donations from the public.

These two separate and distinct united drives can readily be joined with the East Bay Crusade boards in Martinez, Concord and Diablo Valley to form a Contra Costa United Crusade. The result would benefit all concerned.

The greatest single problem which each of these organizations now faces is one of how donations made by commuters at their jobs in Oakland and San Francisco can be returned to charities serving the areas where these commuters live.

For years commuter donations in Oakland went into the coffers of the East Bay United Crusade and into the hands of the San Francisco crusade in that city. Local individual charity groups received no part of the thousands of dollars which commuters donated.

Now there is an answer to that problem.

Just recently the United Crusades of San Mateo and Marin Counties, together with those from San Francisco and the East Bay, formed a federation to work for cooperation of all united crusades in the Bay Area. The main reason for the federation was the problem of commuter donations.

The federation is open to Contra Costa County. If a county-wide Contra Costa United Crusade were organized, it could become a federation member and, by so doing, solve the problem of commuter donations.

It is clear that a county-wide United Crusade cannot be set up this year — time is too short. On the other hand, there is no reason why such a co-ordinated program cannot be completed by 1954.

Monorail — What Advantage Does It Offer?

By BILL STANTON

Two men board the car in Walnut Creek at 8 a. m. and take their seats.

After less than 25 minutes of comfortable, easy riding, the first man gets off the car in the center of Oakland. Less than 10 minutes later, the second man gets off at the Bay Bridge Terminal in San Francisco. Both are fresh, ready for a day's work.

The scene described above has never taken place, but it might very easily in the future, according to Thomas St. John, a vice-president of Monorail Engineering & Construction Corporation.

ST. JOHN dropped by our office the other day to tell us about the possibilities of Monorail rapid transit and what it might do in the area.

Before St. John's visit, we had some checking into rapid transit and its importance.

We had seen a statement by Harold Wise, Walnut Creek planning consultant, that read: "The development potential of Central Contra Costa County and the City of Walnut Creek cannot be realized unless adequate and integrated means of transit and transportation are developed and perfected as the population grows."

This made a lot of sense to us, since most of the residents of the area are commuters. We know that some families have already moved back to the city because commuting is difficult, and unless facilities are improved, it will get tougher and tougher as the area grows. When it is too much to face, growth will stop.

THE FREEWAY, due here in another three or four years, should ease the situation, but experts say it will be far from a solution to commuter problems.

Studies show that it would take four freeways to carry traffic to the Bay cities when this area is fully developed, assuming commuter habits remain much the same. Needless to say, the cost and the availability of land would preclude the building of four freeways before the millennium.

Even if it were feasible to build four freeways, they would only overload the already crowded city streets and parking facilities.

WE HAD THIS IN MIND the other day, when St. Hill, a quiet smiling man who appeared to be in his early thirties, came into the office with a briefcase under his arm.

He told us that he had become so sold on the monorail idea, that he had gone to work for the company.

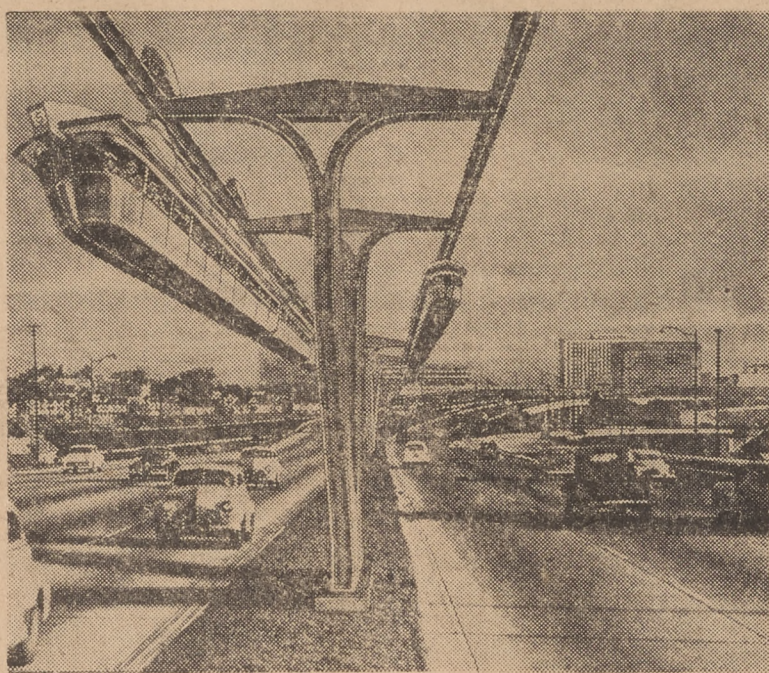

Originally an engineer with an oil company, St. John got into the transportation field when he did some part-time work for the Key System.

He became more and more interested, and when he finally ran into the monorail idea, he became enthused. Today his job is to rub off some of his enthusiasm on the people he meets.

HIS ENTHUSIASM for monorail was plainly evident as he talked to us, passing us literature freely from his loaded briefcase and filling us in on details of a proposed system.

He defined rapid transit as a system of transportation that does not interfere with other surface transportation, a definition that includes monorail nicely.

In line with this definition St. John said use of the Sacramento Northern tracks for some sort of trolley or train transportation would not be "true" rapid transit, since the path of the transportation would go over grade crossings, a safety hazard.

Monorail — Is it the answer?

A plan St. John relishes is the construction of monorail systems in the center strip of freeways. This would save a lot of expense and trouble in land acquisition, he points out.

THE BASIC installation for his monorail system is two steel tracks suspended more than 20 feet in the air to accommodate monorail cars traveling in each direction.

The rails are supported by simple steel structures that rise from the ground in a V-shape and support the rails with crossbars, as in the picture above.

Monorail claims that the suspension mechanism for the cars can be so engineered it is impossible for the cars to jump the tracks.

The bottom of the car is 16 feet above the ground, ample clearance to preclude a collision with any ground vehicles.

AS FAR AS NOISE is concerned, monorail makes half the noise of a normal modern streetcar. It rides on rubber insert wheels and the motor is of a quiet electric variety.

Since there is but a single rail, the way back and forth, common in trains and street cars is avoided. This way is due to the uneven spacing of rail points on each side of the car.

When the monorail car rounds a corner, there is a slight outward sway of the car due to centrifugal force, but not enough to bother passengers, he said.

With stations every half mile or mile, the car can attain a maximum speed of 65 or 70 miles an hour.

SPEED IS LIMITED, not for engineering reasons, but by considerations of passenger comfort. If the cars accelerate or decelerate too fast, riders are jolted around. If the stations are placed further apart, a top speed of 100 miles per hour can be attained.

The cars are moved by electricity piped in through the overhead rail. Small diesel generators are maintained at each station so that the cars are not stranded in the air in case of a power failure.

Plans call for second story type stations, with escalators to save wear and tear on the commuter. When a car arrives at a station, a series of doors are opened electrically by the conductor.

THE CAR IS almost flush with the edge of the platform, and there is less danger in boarding the monorail car than in boarding the ordinary street car.

St. John said that an average New York subway stop is only 12 seconds, but to be on the conservative side, he has figured 24 seconds for loading and unloading at monorail stops in his time schedule.

Fares are paid at a turnstile, before riders go on the platform, eliminating delay in loading.

Plans also call for two-way communication equipment aboard each car, so that if trouble developed along the line, the conductor can be promptly warned to avoid a crash.

THROUGHOUT HIS talk on monorail, St. John emphasized the safety aspects of that form of transportation. He pointed out that a head-on crash would be impossible on a monorail.

He also pointed to the record of a German monorail in Wuppertal that has set a record for passenger safety in more than half a century of operation, a record unequalled in mass transportation.

There has been only one fatality on the line and it was caused by a man who jumped to commit suicide.

ST. JOHN SAID safety also means savings for the commuter. He said that a well-operated surface transportation system must spend about six per cent of its gross income for insurance, while the figure may run as high as 12 per cent for a poorly operated system. It is calculated to be from one to two per cent for a monorail system.

St. John also pointed out that the monorail eliminates the great problem of elevated trains. The supporting structure is not bulky enough to block sunlight from the area underneath.

This is the first of two articles on monorail as a possible form of rapid transportation. The second article will consider practical problems of monorail.)

A Few Words On Appreciating Today's Pottery

By ROBERT CLOUGH

(The following article is by a well-known artist-potter who lives in Lafayette, It. like previous stories, explains what to look for at an Art Show.)

(With others in this series, the article points to the Fifth Annual Art Show to be held in Lafayette September 11 through 14 under the auspices of Outdoor Art Shows Inc.)

People who have not had the opportunity to study pottery making can be helped in its appreciation by understanding the basic standards generally accepted by artists-potters.

A pot is first and foremost a product of utility. That is its primary reason for being and was the beginning of pottery. This does not mean that beauty need be neglected.

In most cases, a strict adherence to simple functionalism produces an honest beauty of its own. Useless additions to pots rarely enhance their beauty and generally constitute poor design.

Among artist-craftsmen one very often hears the expression "honesty of materials." In essence this means that a product should not imitate another of a different material. Do not try to make a clay bowl look like a wooden bowl.

In most of the major museum shows of today you will find pottery stressing simple design, utility, and honesty of materials. This is exemplified by the predominance of high-fired stonewares showing natural earth tones that give one as much appreciation of the body of the ware as of the glaze and design.

Many feel that being "high fired," that is baked at a high enough temperature to insure hardness and durability, is also part of this honesty, as it furthers utility.

Stonewares almost always exhibit interesting textures, due to the many mineral oxides that are found in the natural clays from which they are made, and usually exhibit the somber earth tones that are the only colors that survive the high temperatures.

At first most people dislike these tones. Most prefer the brighter, gayer hues. However, given time to examine stoneware and have it in their homes, people usually discover an interest, warmth and depth not to be found in ware that has a flat, solid color whose value can be fully realized at a glance.

With these thoughts in mind, a person untrained in the field can gain much enjoyment of the pottery being produced and exhibited today.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

The following is a copy of the letters sent to the District Attorney, Foreman of the Grand Jury, and Chairman of the Law Enforcement Committee:

At the August 3rd meeting of our Official Board, the matter of pin ball machines was discussed. The members of the Official Board voted unanimously to support the SUN in its crusade against gambling devices and the apparent laxity of law enforcement in such matters.

I have been instructed to inform you of the action taken and call your attention to the need for a more ambitious enforcement of the gambling laws in our county.

Under The Sun

By JULIUS ROSENTHAL

Not being much of a parliamentarian, I'm not sure whether it's proper for a columnist to devote his column to transmitting the writing of another columnist, even though the other one writes for the same paper.

And if one is a guest columnist, as I am this week, the propriety becomes doubly dubious.

But I can't resist telling you about some of Erwin Mattson's letters from Europe this summer. "Matt," as you know, is Acalanes High School athletics director, SUN sports editor and a photographer for The SUN.

He's been touring Europe the past couple of months and will be back home before school reopens. During his travels he has sent to this paper several interesting articles both on his general impressions and on sports activities.

But due to space limitation, only a couple of them have appeared. So that you'll have at least a smattering of his observations — and with apologies to "Matt" for the inadequacy of this treatment — here are some brief quotations from "Matt's" travel-talk. ("Matt's" by-line really ought to be over this column, instead of mine!)

Left-hand . . . but Matt likes Sweden

From Sweden: "Sweden, like England, is a place where they drive on the left-hand side of the road — in fact, as far as I can find out, they are the only two countries that do . . ."

"They have old age benefits which enable people to live quite well, and in addition they have social or group medicine which works well . . ."

"There are no such things as bars except of a private membership nature, and in order to get an alcoholic drink, one first has to buy food . . ."

"The biggest city and the capital is Stockholm, which is often referred to as the Venice of the North, with its many miles of winding canals, which are filled with colorful fishing craft and pleasure excursion boats that are filled whenever it is not raining. (Rains are frequent) . . ."

"There is no capital punishment in Sweden, and most maximum sentences run about nine years — which is what they refer to as life imprisonment, for such things as murder . . . The actual maximum sentence is 12 years but under law nine months constitute a year, with three months off for good behavior . . ."

"Most of the barbers in Stockholm are women — or perhaps I should say young ladies, as they are in their late teens or their twenties, for the most part . . ."

Danish bikes, French horses . . .

From Copenhagen, Denmark: "Bicycling is a big thing, naturally, because so many people ride bicycles. I found a good many in England, France and Belgium, but in Denmark they are everywhere — and how the people can ride them! . . ."

"On two occasions — once in Hamburg, Germany, and the other in Copenhagen — I came as close as the proverbial cat's whiskers to being measured by a fast-moving cyclist . . ."

"It is really a sight — what must be thousands of cyclists going to work in the morning and returning in the evening . . ."

"The bicycle is so much a part of their life that it is small wonder that they take great interest in bicycle racing. Sometimes races run for days! In France, for example, one big race goes around the country and covers hundreds of miles. Prizes are large for the winners. In one, I saw advertised, first prize was $6000 in American money, which to them represents several times that amount . . ."

"In France I had the opportunity to see one of the big horse racing events of the year when I went as the guest of Marguerite Thome and her husband George to the world-famous track, Longchamps. It was the Grand Prix day of racing, and an estimated crowd of 100,000 was on hand.

"Marguerite Thome is one of the leading dress designers of Paris and is the sister of Suzanne Mariolle (Gaston's Cleaners) of Lafayette. She proved to be a most gracious hostess during my stay in Paris . . ."

"Marguerite . . . came up with four winners and carried off the only loot, as far as we were concerned . . . As things turned out, Marguerite really was lucky if she came out even, because it seemed to be the custom for the winner to buy the dinner, and, judging from the meal we had, Marguerite was the loser for being the winner!"

Belgian food, Parisian gals . . .

From Brussels, Belgium: "Food is cheaper than in France but not as well prepared. (The French could cook a board and make it taste good!) A good meal — soup, bread, salad, meat entree and dessert — can be had for 75 cents to $1.

"A hotel room with service costs $1.80, which is most reasonable. In France the same quality would be $5 . . ."

"One of the finest experiences in Paris was walking down the Champs Elysees, which is a world-famous boulevard. It is a wide street bordered by parks and shops, along with many marvelous sidewalk cafes that are heavily patronized by natives and tourists alike . . ."

"Another grand experience was the Folies Bergeres, which was a three-hour show of spectacular proportions, with gorgeous costumes, lighting and a huge cast. The girls are very beautiful, with or without their costumes — and you see PLENTY of them both ways! . . ."

"I am convinced that the more world travel there is, the better people will come to understand one another. I have as yet to find a people I don't like, and yet to find a place that doesn't have much to offer."

Sports in England

From Paris: "This is being written in Paris but will concern itself with England . . . Sports in England are in general very different from the way we know them. Some things, such as tennis, boxing and wrestling, are, of course, patterned after our versions.

"One thing I saw considerable of was lawn tennis. The game is the same as the hard court game except that it is played on grass and one depends on backspin and placement more than on a smashing, driving game . . ."

"School sports in general are on a limited basis, with the greater activity coming through private clubs, the fees to which are quite low in terms of our money but nevertheless impossible in many instances to many who have a difficult time eking out an existence.

"Sports which cost little to operate are the most popular — marathon running, bowling, bicycling and track fall in this classification.

CRICKET, WHICH IS ONE OF THE GAMES about which a great deal is written, is more for the upper class, which has the means of paying for the relatively high cost, as uniforms, bats, balls and a well-kept area are involved.

"The game probably most associated to it from an American point of view is baseball . . ."

"Rugby is popular and draws tremendous crowds, as do horse racing and marathon automobile races, many of which go for miles through winding city streets as well as the open country.

"Bicycle racing is much the same, and, watching the riders, one marvels at their skill and endurance . . ."

"ONE OF MY MOST PLEASANT London experiences was a visit with Arthur Newton in a small village just out of London proper. Newton is an old-time marathon runner who is still a remarkable performer at the age of 70.

"I met him through my good friend Andrew MacCono of Walnut Creek, who gave me a letter of introduction, for which I am most grateful. "I met Newton in the afternoon, just after he had run six miles that morning in 33 minutes (at age 70). He is up early each day and goes for a four-to-six-mile run . . ."

"Newton holds numerous running records and is a remarkable individual with keen judgment and a fine sense of humor. He is looked upon as an authority on distance running, and many come to him for advice and training procedures."
